FDR-CHURCHILL CONFERENCE AT SEA INTIMATED

Capital Speculation Stirred By Absence From London of Prime Minister.

COMMONS HEARS ATTLEE

Embassy Attache Calls Idea 'Fantastic' But London Paper Hints at Visit.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Speculation that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain may be meeting at sea spread through Washington today.

Although nothing official either in the way of a denial or confirmation, could be obtained, it was pointed out that not only is Mr. Roosevelt now "somewhere on the Atlantic" on the yacht Potomac, but that Churchill is also absent from parliament for unexplained reasons.

How Churchill would meet the head of the American government also added zest to the speculation. British prime ministers have long been discouraged from flying in planes, but if precendent were allowed to go by the boards that would be the ideal way for Churchill to keep such a history-making rendezvous.

Another factor bearing on the speculation was the fact that Harry Hopkins, Mr. Roosevelt's special representative, has just returned to London from conferences with Josef Stalin in Moscow —and no doubt would be included in such parley if one is actually under way or in the making.

A spokesman at the British embassy, when asked this morning if he thought Churchill might be en route, replied in horrified tones: "That is too fantastic to even talk about."

Mr. Roosevelt left Washington Sunday night under the greatest secrecy. It was announced that no newspaper reporters would be allowed to accompany him; that all movements of the yacht Potomac would come under the heading of naval ship movements and therefore would be proscribed.

It was considered possible that if a meeting with Churchill had

Half-Ton Of Nazi Documents Seized In Argentine Raid

BUENOS AIRES —(INS)— More than half a ton of German documents were being inspected by Argentine authorities today after authorities raided the Buenos Aires headquarters of the Teutonic club and seized its records.

The raid was staged by Judge Vasquez, acting in cooperation with the congressional committee investigating subversive activities in Argentina. It was the fifth raid carried out since Friday.

Meanwhile the Bolivian government at La Paz published a statement asserting the recent Nazi plot against the government, which resulted in the ousting of German Minister Ernst Wendler, "undoubtedly" was organized from Rio De Janeiro, Brazil.

Kyle Admits Anti-Tooting Bill Blocked

Plans Further Study As Council Weighs Last Meter Payment.

Councilman George C. Kyle, sponsor of a proposed ordinance to eliminate excessive horn blowing, admitted today that conflicting sections in the Ohio Traffic code blocked passage of his measure.

Kyle had intended to present the ordinance to city council for consideration at its meeting today at 8 p. m. in Municipal building.

City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., yesterday informed Kyle that the clauses taken from New York City and Memphis laws would be illegal in this state. The model laws from those cities required motorists to brake wheels and slow their vehicles while blowing a horn.

Because this state's law require that a horn be blown while overtaking another vehicle, it would be impossible to brake the wheels while passing, Ward pointed out.

Kyle said that he would hold further conferences with Ward to discover if any regulatory law can be made which will not conflict with the state code. A study of the new code to go into effect next month will be made before drawing up another ordinance, Kyle said.

The councilman pointed out that in some instances the state law calls for a signal but does not specify that it must be an audible one. Kyle said that a hand signal might be substituted in some instances.

Removal of the anti-horn blowing ordinance pushes the authorization of the final payment for the city's 414 parking meters into the spotlight.

Council will consider an ordinance appropriating $8,523 from the parking meter fund as the final payment on the meters. The city has paid $12,420 in monthly installments since last October when the meters were installed for a test period.

The test period will end on

LAST STOCKING!

Store Sees End of Silk Hose as Buying Rush Goes on.

One Mansfield store reported it "would probably be out of the silk hosiery business by closing time," as the buying rush, prompted by the government ban on silk, continued today.

Another store had established restrictions on sales, depending upon the stock, but generally limiting the sale to four pairs of silk hose and two pairs of nylons.

No restrictions were in force in other stores in the city. Several merchants said "stocks were low anyway," but one pictured the bright side. "We have plenty of hose," he said. Merchants announced that they were "about as busy" at hosiery counters as they were Saturday when the ban, effective at midnight, was announced.

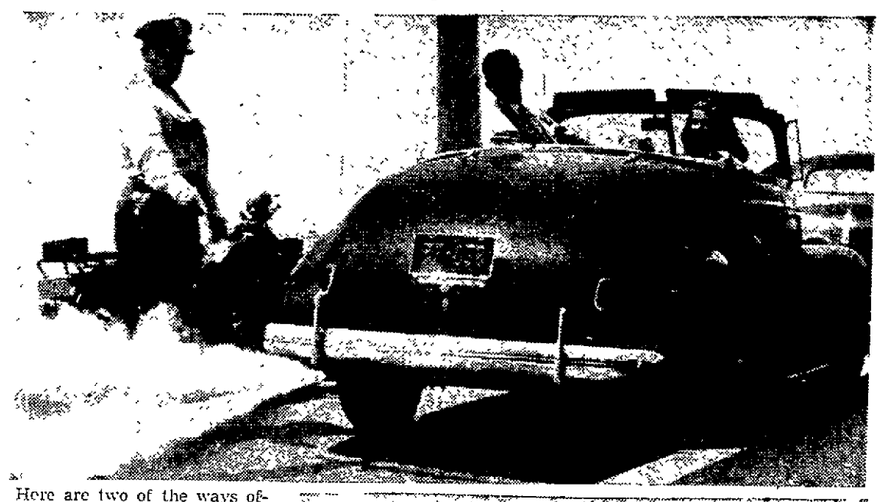
Two Moves In Campaign To Conserve Gasoline



Here are two of the ways officials are seeking to save gasoline in the nation's eastern states. At the top, a driver is told by a policeman to have his motor adjusted to insure more economical operation. Those ignoring such warnings are subject to arrest under a nuisance statute. At the bottom, a filling station posts a sign explaining it is closed from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. to conserve gasoline. However, indications to date are that the latter campaign has not succeeded measurably. Motorists "filled up" during the day, and estimates were that more than the normal amount of gasoline was sold.

'U. S. ON BRINK OF INFLATION'

That's Testimony of Henderson Before House Banking Committee.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON— Price Administrator Leon Henderson told the house banking committee today the United States "stands now on the brink of inflation."

He said that even though congress acts immediately on the administration's price control bill, on which he was the first witness, the prevention of inflation will require a tremendous effort. He said President Roosevelt realized that run-away prices would work great hardship on the people and the nation's economy.

He traced the setting-up of the price control office, its problems and needs.

"We soon needed something besides talk to check inflationary prices; several weeks ago it became overwhelmingly evident that the situation required something more than cooperative price schedules," Henderson said.

"I felt the time had come for the president to ask congress for specific legislation for control of commodity prices," he continued after "cooperation shown thus far."

"I know we face volatile and dynamic forces bringing us into inflationary status," he said.

Henderson said that the general price level in the United States had increased 20 per cent since the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, and created a "critical" condition by February of this year.

He said that since German forces swept across Poland, the price of 28 basic U. S. commodities shot up an average of 50 per cent. "Further increases" may be expected in the immediate future, he added.

Schedule State Wheat Protest Meeting In County August 13

Plans for a statewide wheat penalty protest meeting at Madison township school auditorium, Wednesday, August 13, were underway in Richland county today following organization of a permanent county unit of the Farmers Protective association last night at Madison school. The meeting will be the first general state session in Ohio.

Speakers of national reputation will appear at the all-day session, Earl W. Logan, temporary chairman at last night's meeting, explained. The morning program has been tentatively scheduled to open at 10 a. m., and the session will be climaxed with a mass meeting at night.

H. H. Fackler of Plymouth was elected president of the Richland county association by the 125 farmers present last night. He had previously been elected to head the organization set up jointly last week by Plymouth and Cass townships. Walter Hamer of Mansfield was elected vice president; W. L. Griebling, Cook road, treasurer, and Leo Berry of Lucas, secretary.

Township organizations in each of the county's 18 townships will be formed as quickly as possible, Logan said. The first township group effected was the joint Plymouth-Cass township association.

Lower Income Groups Hardest Hit as Big Revenue Bill Stands at Present.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Chairman Walter F. George, (D., Ga.) of the senate finance committee, predicted today that the tax bill will be restored to its original $3,529,000,000 goal through approval of lower exemptions and higher rates on individual incomes.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The huge $3,206,200,000 defense tax bill, which would give the government its biggest cut of the national income, went to the senate today bearing a thumping house approval, but almost immediately there was talk that it might yet undergo major revisions.

McGregor Votes 'No' on Bill

Representative J. Harry McGregor, from Ohio's 17th congressional district, which includes Richland county, cast the sole Ohio delegation vote against the $3,200,000 defense tax bill which the house sent to the senate yesterday.

Dispatches from Washington quoted McGregor as saying he had voted "No" as a protest against the "gag rule" under which the house considered the bill. The gag rule is a limitation on debate.

McGregor voted in favor of the elimination of the provision for joint returns by husband and wife.

It passed the house 369 to 30 late yesterday after it had first been stripped of a provision for requiring all married persons to file joint income tax returns. This Gunmen Rob Bank Messengers In Pennsylvania.

STROUDSBURG, Pa. — (AP) — Three gunmen held up two employes of the Stroudsburg First National bank on a local street today and robbed them of a bag that state police said contained approximately $76,000 in old bills. The trio escaped in a black sedan.

The money was being taken from the bank to the postoffice, 75 yards away, for return to the federal reserve bank in Philadelphia in exchange for new currency.

As Lewis Heiny and Ralph Rheinfels, the bank messengers, hurried along the street, the gunmen drew up alongside in the sedan, jumped out, menaced the messengers with sub machine guns, grabbed the bag, and sped rapidly away.

Claim 70-Mile Gain In Drive Near Smolensk

Nazis Report 6,000 Russian Prisoners Captured In Ukraine; Moscow Says Heavy Fighting Continues On Southern Front.

BULLETIN

MOSCOW—(UP)—Marshal Semyon Budenny, commander of the southwest front, broadcast a new appeal to the people of the Ukraine today to strip their rich wheat lands and "leave not one ounce of bread for the enemy."

(By Associated Press)

German panzer forces have driven a new 70-mile-deep salient into the heart of the Soviet defense system between Moscow and Leningrad, the Russians acknowledged today, and Berlin reported that the 45-day-old conflict now had developed into two vast battles.

Nazi military dispatches said the encirclement and destruction of large Red army forces south of Kiev, the Ukraine capital, was well under way and indicated that a clean-up in the bloody Smolensk sector, 230 miles west of Moscow, was in its final stages.

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported that Red army units attempting to smash their way out of a trap in the Ukraine had been "annihilated."

The communique also declared that in "a widening break through the region 100 kilometers (60 miles) southeast of Smolensk, a new enemy power group was partly annihilated and partly destroyed."

DNB, the official German news agency, reported that 6,000 Russian prisoners were captured in the Ukraine, along with 50 cannon and 368 trucks.

The new German thrust knifed to the vicinity of Kholm, in the marshlands 70 miles east of last week's battlefield at Novorzhev, a Red army bulletin admitted. Kholm lies 180 miles south of Leningrad and 250 miles northwest of Moscow.

Authoritative quarters in London asserted that fierce Soviet resistance had compelled the Germans to abandon frontal attacks in the Smolensk sector and to direct their fury in drives south of Leningrad and on the grain-ripening field of the Ukraine.

Nazi reports from the front indicated the Germans might be planning to by-pass Kiev and drive on to the Russian industrial center of Dnepropetrovsk, 185 miles southeast of Kiev on the Dnieper river. Dnepropetrovsk is the site of heavy armament works and the center of a huge coal, iron and manganese producing region.

A Soviet communique again spoke of heavy all-night fighting in the Bel Tserkov sector, 50 miles south of Kiev; in the Korosten sector, 80 miles north-

U. S. WARSHIPS IN AUSTRALIA

Navy Asserts Vessels Are on 'Training Cruise' To South Pacific.

(By Associated Press)

United States warships have arrived in Australia on a "training cruise," the navy department announced today, even as tension in the Orient heightened over the reported massing of Japanese troops at Russia's back door and the continuance of Japanese pressure on little Thailand.

Without reference to the Far East crisis, the navy said the U. S. heavy cruisers Northampton and Salt Lake City had arrived at Brisbane "for refueling and several days recreation" for the ships' crews on a cruise to the South Pacific ocean.

Reports from Bangkok, Thailand, said Thai officials would not deny that Japan was applying pressure for the granting of certain demands and that Thailand was facing a momentous decision in her relations with Japan, Britain and the United States.

London reports have said the Japanese were demanding air bases in Thailand, within 400 miles striking distance of Britain's great citadel of Singapore.

Coincidentally, the British announced officially that large numbers of British and Indian troops, including RAF personnel, have arrived at Singapore.

Dispatches from Saigon, French Indo-China, said a large and well-equipped Chinese army was reported massed on the Burma border, ready to cross at a moment's notice to join British forces—

DENY INCREASE

Rail Operators Reject Union Demand For Pay Boost.

CHICAGO —(AP)— The railroad unions' demands for wage increases were rejected today by representatives of rail management.

The carriers' representatives asserted at today's negotiation session that railroads would be unable to pay the proposed wage increases.

Spokesmen for the managements had figured that all wage increases, if granted, would add $900,000,000 a year to operating costs.

The five operating unions, representing trainmen, engineers, firemen, conductors, and switchmen, asked for a 30 per cent increase for 350,000 unionists.

Report U. S. Will Request Brazil to Protect Azores

By KINGSBURY SMITH

(INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—The United States government, it was learned today, wants Brazil to take over protection of the Azores the moment there appears any danger of the Portuguese Atlantic island falling into Nazi hands.

The United States has approached the Brazilian government on the subject through diplomatic channels, and has pointed out to Brazil the grave menace which it believes Nazi occupation of the Azores would mean to the defense of the western hemisphere.

The position of this government is that the Azores must be prevented at all costs from falling into German hands and that if it is found necessary to take over the protection of the islands, Brazil, because of the common bond of heritage between the Brazilian people and the Portuguese inhabitants of the Azores, is the most suitable nation among the American republics to do the job.

This government is willing to pledge to Brazil its full support, including any naval or military assistance that may be required, in any steps that country may take to establish a temporary protectorate over the Azores in event the Nazis move into Portugal or otherwise threaten occupation of the Portuguese islands.

Brazilian leadership in any American move to take over protection of the Azores is considered by this government to be desirable from many angles.

In the first place, it is felt it would represent a striking example of inter-American solidarity and an unmistakeable warning to the aggressor nations of the determination of the American republics to stand together in the common defense of the western hemisphere.

Secondly, it would relieve the United States of any charges of harboring aggressive designs on the Azores for imperialistic reasons and would deal a devastating blow to the efforts of German propagandists in South America to instill suspicion in the minds of the Latin republics concerning the good intentions of the United States in hemispheric defense plans.

GERMANS DRIVE REDS BACK ON NORTH SECTOR

Berlin Claims 70-Mile Gain In Campaign Near Smolensk.

west of Kiev; and in the Smolensk sector.

The United States, meanwhile, cast the weight of "all economic assistance practicable" in the balance for Soviet Russia today as the Red army battled to block the new Nazi-driven wedges.

The assistance pledged by the United States would be in military supplies and implements of defense on a cash rather than a lend-lease basis. Russia has the money to pay.

Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky was informed last night at Washington that the United States also was exploring the possibility of using American ships to transport some of the supplies.

Such supplies would go by way of the Siberian port of Vladivostok. Japan, however, has hinted broadly she might not look with favor on any war supply shipping to that port.

Moscow had its 12th air attack last night but reported only a few raiders broke through and dropped incendiaries.

London Believes Reds Have Drive Halted.

LONDON—(U.P.)—The Russians have definitely stopped the great German offensive in the Smolensk sector of the Moscow front and are preparing to launch a big scale offensive in the Karelian isthmus sector of the Leningrad front, well informed sources reported today.

Advices reached diplomatic quarters that 500,000 Russians under Gen. Grigori M. Stern, the Russian hero of the Russo-Finnish war, were massing in the Karelian isthmus of Finland for a big scale offensive.

As regards the Smolensk sector, where the Germans have made two of their greatest and most costly attacks of the war, authoritative British sources said it was now definite that the Russians had stopped the Nazi war machine there.

French Tell of New Dakar Defenses.

VICHY, France —(U.P.)— An announcement that extensive new defenses had been completed along the French African coast was regarded today as an attempt to assure the United States that Dakar and other strategic ports there would not be surrendered to Germany.

The announcement was made by Pierre Boisson, governor general of Dakar, while the German-controlled newspapers in Paris were denouncing the "interference" in French domestic affairs of Admiral William D. Leahy, the United States ambassador, and while one of them, L'Oeuvre, was charging that Leahy had offered American aid if France would defend her African empire against Germany.

Colombia Nips Nazi Activities.

BOGOTA, Columbia—(AP)—Colombia has joined the growing list of Latin American countries taking action against anti-democratic activities by announcing that an attempt to indoctrinate the army with totalitarian ideals had been nipped.

Detention of an undisclosed number of persons—unofficial estimates range from 40 to 200—and seizure of quantities of documents were announced last night by War Minister Castro Martinez in connection with an investigation into alleged subversive activities.

The Bogota radio charged that Nazi elements were behind the movements. There were rumors that at least one German was among those detained, but the German legation denied any German nationals were being held.

STATE PROTEST MEET SET HERE

Plans For Session Aug. 13 Following Election of County Officers.

county participated in the organization meeting last night and heard Russell T. Kiko, Canton, chairman of the Ohio Farmers' Protective association.

Kiko quoted statistics charging that surplus wheat in this county is caused by imports from other countries and discussed generally the state movement that protests the government's right to control wheat and fix penalties.

The state chairman will be among the speakers at the meeting to be held at Madison township school which is expected to draw several hundred farmers fram throughout Ohio.

An initial meeting of the state organization was held last week at Marysville and the coming conclave is the first general state meeting in Ohio.

Meanwhile more than 100 wheat growers claiming to represent 400,000 of Pennsylvania's 907,000 wheat acreage are forming a state-wide organization to right what a spokesman termed "federal regimentation of agriculture."

Strenuously opposing the agricultural adjustment administration wheat quota system put into effect for the first time this year, the Pennsylvania farmers last night also went on record against "all government interference with agriculture in this state," announced chairman Audley Boak, former master of the Pennsylvania Grange.

Boak, who named an executive committee to arrange a state-wide gathering of growers within the next 10 days, said any modifications in the quota plan would not alter the group's purpose of "opposing the regimentation of agriculture."

Pennsylvania growers voted against the plan in the national referendum last May. The national vote, however, favored the limited production system setting the amount of wheat to be grown and banning sale of any grain without permission of county AAA committees.

Boak said 18,000 farmers in the state grow wheat but only 5,500 took part in the referendum. He added the quota plan was put into effect after the growers planted their wheat and that it was therefore unfair.

Opposition to the quota plan also has developed in the midwest with protest groups being set up in at least two states. One Indiana group, incorporated yesterday, opposes the entire AAA program.

At Pawnee City, Neb., the tour of 500 western plains states farmers to Ohio and Indiana last week was described today as the opening of a drive for political control of agriculture.

Kenneth S. Wherry, Nebraska Republican chairman, said the trip was sponsored by the committee on agriculture which "was started by New Dealers in Washington and developed into Nebraska to further the New Deal program."

Wherry said that the committee was one of the "movements seeking control" of agriculture by displacing the Farm Bureau, farm unions and grange because "these organizations at times have questioned some New Deal ideas."

Six Injured In Clash Of Timber Drivers

Six men were injured, 10 trucks were smashed and their cargoes of mine posts scattered on the highway as CIO strikers attempted to halt deliveries of mine timbers by an independent union on the Nation's highway (route 40) near Farmington, Pa. About 50 timber-loaded trucks were parked along the highway, as shown above, waiting to move as pickets patrolled the road. The clash resulted as the convoy of trucks attempted to pass through a picket line of the CIO Lumber, Timber and Sawmill Workers' Organizing Committee, which called a three-state walkout in the timber industry July 21.

August 20. Mayor William J. Locke reported on June 1 that $30,000 had already been collected in meter receipts, an average of more than $4,000 monthly.

Also presented will be an ordinance asking the borrowing of $18,900 in anticipation of a bond issue and the collection of assessments against the owners of property abutting three street improvements to be carried out this year. The money would be borrowed to cover the property-owners' share of the improvements' cost.

The $18,900 would be used to construct sanitary sewers on Fifth avenue for $1,300 and at Poplar street and Sloane avenue for $3,100 and for the paving and grading of Wood street for $14,500. The city will pay $24 toward the first improvement, $56 for the second and $6,100 toward the Wood street work.

Council will also be asked to set aside funds for equipment for the new traffic squad, to allow the construction of barracks and hangars at the Municipal airport, name one of the city's banks as the official depository for city funds, authorize the construction of eight new storm sewers for $15,000, and transfer unused funds to others needed to make up allowances for salary increases.

Indications that Mr. Roosevelt's cruise was not all vacation, came from the yacht Potomac today when the navy revealed that he had "spent some time" discussing affairs with the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, Rear Admiral Ernest J. King.

Admiral King has responsibility for operation of the United States navy's patrolling operations in the Atlantic.

Communications from the president's yacht did not reveal how long he conferred with the naval commander or the specific subjects discussed.

Churchill Misses Parliament Session

LONDON —(U.P.)—Maj. Clement Attlee told the House of Commons today that Prime Minister Winston Churchill "will not find it convenient" to attend the forthcoming debate on progress of the war.

(The statement may indicate that Churchill will pay a flying visit to the United States.)

The statement by Attlee, member of Churchill's war cabinet and the prime minister's deputy in the house, followed closely a statement by the London Daily Mail that "a very high personage" is preparing to fly to the United States to see President Roosevelt.

Authoritative sources said Churchill's absence was due to "preoccupation with urgent matters connected with the war."

MORE CHANGES IN DEFENSE TAX MEASURE SEEN

Shorn of Joint Return Clause In House, Bill Passes By Vote of 369-30.

provision had been counted on to raise about $323,000,000 in additional revenue through higher surtaxes.

The defeat was attributed to a great extent to the criticism voiced by President Roosevelt who wanted it modified to exempt the income actually earned by either husbands or wives.

Members of the ways and means committee, who balked at recommending the president's proposal, were joined by other legislators in warning that further increases in individual income taxes would be necessary to make up the lost revenue.

At the other end of the capitol, Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the senate finance committee, expressed belief the senate would not seek to reinstate the controverted provision but would try to make up the deficiency elsewhere, possibly by revision of the income tax brackets to broaden the base.

George expressed doubt that the senate would make any change in the fundamentals of the excess profits tax plan approved by the house.

The base-broadening mentioned by George would be in line with President Roosevelt's views, for the chief executive told the ways and means committee he thought the exemptions for single persons should be reduced from $800 to $750 and those for married persons from $2,000 to $1,500.

Mr. Roosevelt asserted that persons in those income groups were eager to "chip in directly" to help the defense program.

As it passed the house yesterday, the bill would virtually triple the taxes of persons in the lower and middle income groups by levying a graduated system of surtaxes starting at five per cent on the first dollar of taxable income and ranging up to 75 per cent (the present maximum) on incomes of $5,000,000 and over.

These surtaxes would be in addition to the present normal income tax rate of four per cent, which was continued. But even at that, a married man earning $2,500 and having no dependents would pay $38.50 under the new plan compared with his present tax of $11.

The new yield from individual income taxes were expected to be in the neighborhood of $829,000,000.

Approximately $1,322,900,000 would be raised from corporations through surtaxes, stiffer excess profits taxes and a drastically revised method of computing them. Surtaxes would start at five per cent on profits up to $25,000 and rise to six per cent on any amount in excess of that. Excess profits tax rates now range from 25 to 50 per cent would be boosted to run from 35 to 60 per cent.

KILLED IN CRASH

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Richard Barksdale, 53, of Chagrin Falls, was killed when his automobile skidded and struck a tree in Pepper Pike village last night.

Caught In Draft

Imagine the surprise of Sydte Christy, 19, of Swissvale, Pa., when she noticed her name in the July list of registrants for the draft. And when she received her questionnaire, she was a "little scared," but she was rejected when she informed the board she was a girl. Miss Christy, whose real first name is Cecelia, said she couldn't think of anyone who might have submitted her name. The case was to be turned over to the F.B.I. for further investigation.

CONDITION FAIR

Neil E. Remy Confined to Hospital By Coronary Thrombosis Attack.

Neil E. Remy, 384 West Third street, was reported in fair condition today at General hospital where he was taken yesterday morning following an attack of coronary thrombosis. Relatives said that Remy's illness was serious but that he had spent a restful night.

The recent attack followed several months of convalescence after a long illness last winter during which Remy was in the hospital from September until April.

SHELBY POLICE FORCE TO GET NEW OFFICER

City Council Authorizes Employment of Patrolman at Monday Meeting.

SHELBY — City council last night authorized the employment of an additional patrolman on the Shelby police department.

A resolution adopted by the city lawmakers empowers Mayor William R. Morris, director of public service, to make the appointment from the civil service eligibility list.

The additional patrolman is necessary, officials said, due to a new state law which has reduced the police work week.

A meeting of the Civil Service Commission will be held soon for examination of candidates for both the new patrolman's position, and to create an eligibility list for both police and fire departments, Mayor Morris said.

Paul Curry is chairman of the Commission.

ASKS CLEVELAND FOR A RECOUNT

Detroit Wants Report From Smelters on Aluminum Collection Race.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The city of Detroit wants a recount before it pays off the two used frying pans it lost to Cleveland in an aluminum collection race, Mayor Edward Blythin revealed today.

In a statement to Mayor Blythin, Mayor Jeffries of the Auto City asked for a "pondage report from the smelters" and threatened to carry the battle to the supreme court.

Although Detroit collected more poundage, Cleveland's per capita collection, on which count the bet was made, was greater.

STAGE POT AND PAN CAMPAIGN AT BUCYRUS

Belated Collection of Old Aluminum Started In Crawford County.

BUCYRUS — Somewhat behind the national drive for collection of old aluminum for defense purposes, the Bucyrus campaign got under way here Monday under the direction of George T. Dustman, chairman.

A container has been built on Washington square for the deposit of the metal.

Little co-operation in the drive was reported in rural sections of the county where more than 40 collection points were established, Dustman said.

GERMANS DRIVE REDS BACK ON NORTH SECTOR

Berlin Claims 70-Mile Gain In Campaign Near Smolensk.

west of Kiev; and in the Smolensk sector.

The United States, meanwhile, cast the weight of "all economic assistance practicable" in the balance for Soviet Russia today as the Red army battled to block the new Nazi-driven wedges.

The assistance pledged by the United States would be in military supplies and implements of defense on a cash rather than a lend-lease basis. Russia has the money to pay.

Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky was informed last night at Washington that the United States also was exploring the possibility of using American ships to transport some of the supplies.

Such supplies would go by way of the Siberian port of Vladivostok. Japan, however, has hinted broadly she might not look with favor on any war supply shipping to that port.

Moscow had its 12th air attack last night but reported only a few raiders broke through and dropped incendiaries.

London Believes Reds Have Drive Halted.

LONDON—(U.P.)—The Russians have definitely stopped the great German offensive in the Smolensk sector of the Moscow front and are preparing to launch a big scale offensive in the Karelian isthmus sector of the Leningrad front, well informed sources reported today.

Advices reached diplomatic quarters that 500,000 Russians under Gen. Grigori M. Stern, the Russian hero of the Russo-Finnish war, were massing in the Karelian isthmus of Finland for a big scale offensive.

As regards the Smolensk sector, where the Germans have made two of their greatest and most costly attacks of the war, authoritative British sources said it was now definite that the Russians had stopped the Nazi war machine there.

French Tell of New Dakar Defenses.

VICHY, France—(U.P.)—An announcement that extensive new defenses had been completed along the French African coast was regarded today as an attempt to assure the United States that Dakar and other strategic ports there would not be surrendered to Germany.

The announcement was made by Pierre Boisson, governor general of Dakar, while the German-controlled newspapers in Paris were denouncing the "interference" in French domestic affairs of Admiral William D. Leahy, the United States ambassador, and while one of them, L'Oeuvre, was charging that Leahy had offered American aid if France would defend her African empire against Germany.

Colombia Nips Nazi Activities.

BOGOTA, Columbia—(AP)—Colombia has joined the growing list of Latin American countries taking action against anti-democratic activities by announcing that an attempt to indoctrinate the army with totalitarian ideals had been nipped.

Detention of an undisclosed number of persons—unofficial estimates range from 40 to 200—and seizure of quantities of documents were announced last night by War Minister Castro Martinez in connection with an investigation into alleged subversive activities.

The Bogota radio charged that Nazi elements were behind the movements. There were rumors that at least one German was among those detained, but the German legation denied any German nationals were being held.

WILL BLACK OUT NEW YORK SIGNS

Striking Electrical Workers Shut Off Current In Times Square.

NEW YORK—(INS)—The world-famous electric signs of Times Square will be "blacked out" for 30 minutes beginning at 9 p. m. tonight when AFL electrical workers throw the switches as an "advertisement of their strike against the Consolidated Edison company.

Officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who had tied up 1,000 construction jobs in New York City through their refusal to work until the Edison company settles labor grievances, said they were limiting the blackout to a half hour to avoid imposing financial penalties on big advertisers.

TUNNEL TO ANDORRA

PARIS—(INS)—The tiny Republic of Andorra in the Pyranees will be brought closer in contact with the outside world through a railroad tunnel some four miles long now being dug from Viela, Spain, through Andorra and thence to France. Andorrans, most of whom from time immemorial have made their living by smuggling, are perturbed by the possible effects on their activities.

SCOUT SUCCUMBS

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Phil Haggerty, 60, baseball scout for the Philadelphia Athletics since 1924 succumbed here last night.

INJURIES FATAL TO YOUNGSTER

Dies of Skull Fracture Sustained When Wheel Topples on Her.

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—The desire of five-year-old Mary Theadermann to be helpful to her father in changing a tire led to her death today.

Mary was watching her father change a tire and wheel on his car when the wheel began to roll away. Mary ran in pursuit and when she caught up with the wheel it fell atop her, fracturing her skull.

She died today in children's hospital. The accident happened last night.

STATE PROTEST MEET SET HERE

Plans For Session Aug. 13 Following Election of County Officers.

county participated in the organization meeting last night and heard Russell T. Kiko, Canton, chairman of the Ohio Farmers' Protective association.

Kiko quoted statistics charging that surplus wheat in this county is caused by imports from other countries and discussed generally the state movement hat protests the government's right to control wheat and fix penalties.

The state chairman will be among the speakers at the meeting to be held at Madison township school which is expected to draw several hundred farmers fram throughout Ohio.

An initial meeting of the state organization was held last week at Marysville and the coming conclave is the first general state meeting in Ohio.

Meanwhile more than 100 wheat growers claiming to represent 100,000 of Pennsylvania's 907,000 wheat acreage are forming a state-wide organization to right what a spokesman termed "federal regimentation of agriculture."

Strenuously opposing the agricultural adjustment administration wheat quota system put into effect for the first time this year, the Pennsylvania farmers last night also went on record against "all government interference with agriculture in this state," announced chairman Audley Boak, former master of the Pennsylvania Grange.

Boak who named an executive committee to arrange a state-wide gathering of growers within the next 10 days, said any modifications in the quota plan would not alter the group's purpose of "opposing the regimentation of agriculture."

Pennsylvania growers voted against the plan in the national referendum last May. The national vote, however, favored the limited production system setting the amount of wheat to be grown and barning sale of any grain without permission of county AAA committees.

Boak said 18,000 farmers in the state grow wheat but only 5,500 took part in the referendum. He added the quota plan was put into effect after the growers planted their wheat and that it was therefore unfair.

Opposition to the quota plan also has developed in the midwest with protest groups being set up in at least two states. One Indiana group incorporated yesterday, opposes the entire AAA program.

At Pawnee City, Neb., the tour of 500 western plains states farmers to Ohio and Indiana last week was described today as the opening of a drive for political control of agriculture.

Kenneth S. Wherry, Nebraska Republican chairman, said the trip was sponsored by the committee on agriculture which "was started by New Dealers in Washington and developed into Nebraska to further the New Deal program."

Wherry said that the committee was one of the "movements seeking control" of agriculture by displacing the Farm Bureau, farm unions and grange because "these organizations at times have questioned some New Deal ideas."

Assets Zero

Patricia (Honeychile) Wilder, Broadway actress, owes $8,212.24 and has no assets except her clothes, according to a voluntary bankruptcy petition filed in Federal court, New York.

Six Injured In Clash Of Timber Drivers

Six men were injured, 10 trucks were smashed and their cargoes of mine posts scattered on the highway as CIO strikers attempted to halt deliveries of mine timbers by an independent union on the Nation's highway (route 40) near Farmington, Pa. About 50 timber-loaded trucks were parked along the highway, as shown above, waiting to move as pickets patrolled the road. The clash resulted as the convoy of trucks attempted to pass through a picket line of the CIO Lumber, Timber and Sawmill Workers' Organizing Committee, which called a three-state walkout in the timber industry July 21.

ADMITS NOISE BILL BLOCKED

Kyle Says He'll Make Further Study; Council To Take Up Last Meter Payment.

August 20. Mayor William J. Locke reported on June 1 that $30,000 had already been collected in meter receipts, an average of more than $4,000 monthly.

Also presented will be an ordinance asking the borrowing of $18,900 in anticipation of a bond issue and the collection of assessments against the owners of property abutting three street improvements to be carried out this year. The money would be borrowed to cover the property-owners' share of the improvements' cost.

The $18,900 would be used to construct sanitary sewers on Fifth avenue for $1,300 and at Poplar street and Sloane avenue for $8,100 and for the paving and grading of Wood street for $11,500. The city will pay $24 toward the first improvement, $56 for the second and $6,100 toward the Wood street work.

Council will also be asked to set aside funds for equipment for the new traffic squad, to allow the construction of barracks and hangars at the Municipal airport, name one of the city's banks as the official depository for city funds, authorize the construction of eight new storm sewers for $15,000, and transfer unused funds to others needed to make up allowances for salary increases.

YOO-HOO!

Maybe This Little Girl Didn't Get a Chance To Read Papers.

FORT BLISS, Tex.—(AP)—A 63rd coast artillery column pulled over to the side of a road.

A group of soldiers was perched on the back of a truck and engaged in commonplace conversation when a cheerful feminine voice interrupted with something which sounded like yoo hoo.

The troopers stared. The silence was as heavy and cold as an iceberg.

One of the men cleared his throat and rejoined:

"Listen, little girl, haven't you read the papers?"

been planned that Mr. Roosevelt might be aboard a U. S. cruiser or battleship, put further out to sea and be joined by the British prime minister arriving either by air or ship.

Indications that Mr. Roosevelt's cruise was not all vacation, came from the yacht Potomac today when the navy revealed that he had "spent some time" discussing affairs with the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, Rear Admiral Ernest J. King.

Admiral King has responsibility for operation of the United States navy's patrolling operations in the Atlantic.

Communications from the president's yacht did not reveal how long he conferred with the naval commander or the specific subjects discussed.

Churchill Misses Parliament Session

LONDON—(U.P.)—Maj. Clement Attlee told the House of Commons today that Prime Minister Winston Churchill "will not find it convenient" to attend the forthcoming debate on progress of the war.

(The statement may indicate that Churchill will pay a flying visit to the United States.)

The statement by Attlee, member of Churchill's war cabinet and the prime minister's deputy in the house, followed closely a statement by the London Daily Mail that "a very high personage" is preparing to fly to the United States to see President Roosevelt.

Authoritative sources said Churchill's absence was due to "preoccupation with urgent matters connected with the war."

Report Roosevelt 'Enjoys Sea Air'

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL YACHT POTOMAC—(U.P.)—(Via Navy Radio)—President Roosevelt continued his vacation cruise in northern waters today to "an undisclosed destination" after spending a restful night.

A special bulletin by the president's naval aid said Mr. Roosevelt had spent some time yesterday discussing naval affairs with the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, Admiral Ernest J. King, but that most of his time had been devoted to "enjoying the sea air."

OFFERS COURSE

Ohio State U. Will Give Free Training In Nursing.

Ohio State university's college of medicine in Columbus will offer a special National Defense three-year course in nursing this fall to a number of Richland county high school girl graduates, the school announced today.

Intended to help meet the shortage of nurses resulting from the needs of the armed services and defense industries, the new course will offer free maintenance—room, board and laundry of uniforms—as well as freedom from paying other fees to those selected for the course.

Applications for the course, which will open Sept. 30, are being received by the university examiner in Columbus.

GO ON TOUR

Knudsen, Navy Officials To Visit Aircraft Factories.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The OPM announced today that Director General William S. Knudsen, and high navy officials will make an inspection tour of east coast aircraft factories next week.

Knudsen will be accompanied by Rear Admiral H. Towers, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, and Under-Secretary of Navy James V. Forrestal.

The party will leave Washington Wednesday and return Saturday.

MORE CHANGES IN DEFENSE TAX MEASURE SEEN

Shorn of Joint Return Clause In House, Bill Passes By Vote of 369-30.

provision had been counted on to raise about $323,000,000 in additional revenue through higher surtaxes.

The defeat was attributed to a great extent to the criticism voiced by President Roosevelt who wanted it modified to exempt the income actually earned by either husbands or wives.

Members of the ways and means committee, who balked at recommending the president's proposal, were joined by other legislators in warning that further increases in individual income taxes would be necessary to make up the lost revenue.

At the other end of the capitol, Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the senate finance committee, expressed belief the senate would not seek to reinstate the controverted provision but would try to make up the deficiency elsewhere, possibly by revision of the income tax brackets to broaden the base.

George expressed doubt that the senate would make any change in the fundamentals of the excess profits tax plan approved by the house.

The base-broadening mentioned by George would be in line with President Roosevelt's views, for the chief executive told the ways and means committee he thought the exemptions for single persons should be reduced from $800 to $750 and those for married persons from $2,000 to $1,500.

Mr. Roosevelt asserted that persons in those income groups were eager to "chip in directly" to help the defense program.

As it passed the house yesterday, the bill would virtually triple the taxes of persons in the lower and middle income groups by levying a graduated system of surtaxes starting at five per cent on the first dollar of taxable income and ranging up to 75 per cent (the present maximum) on incomes of $5,000,000 and over.

These surtaxes would be in addition to the present normal income tax rate of four per cent, which was continued. But even at that a married man earning $2,500 and having no dependents would pay $38.50 under the new plan compared with his present tax of $11.

The new yield from individual income taxes were expected to be in the neighborhood of $829,000,000.

Approximately $1,322,900,000 would be raised from corporations through surtaxes, stiffer excess profits taxes and a drastically revised method of computing them. Surtaxes would start at five per cent on profits up to $25,000 and rise to six per cent on any amount in excess of that. Excess profits tax rates now range from 25 to 50 per cent would be boosted to run from 35 to 60 per cent.

Caught In Draft

Imagine the surprise of Sydte Christy, 19, of Swissvale, Pa., when she noticed her name in the July list of registrants for the draft. And when she received her questionnaire, she was a "little scared," but she was rejected when she informed the board she was a girl. Miss Christy, whose real first name is Cecelia, said she couldn't think of anyone who might have submitted her name. The case was to be turned over to the F.B.I. for further investigation.

SHELBY POLICE FORCE TO GET NEW OFFICER

City Council Authorizes Employment of Patrolman at Monday Meeting.

SHELBY — City council last night authorized the employment of an additional patrolman on the Shelby police department.

A resolution adopted by the city lawmakers empowers Mayor William R. Morris, director of public service, to make the appointment from the civil service eligibility list.

The additional patrolman is necessary, officials said, due to a new state law which has reduced the police work week.

A meeting of the Civil Service Commission will be held soon for examination of candidates for both the new patrolman's position, and to create an eligibility list for both police and fire departments, Mayor Morris said.

Paul Curry is chairman of the Commission.

ASKS CLEVELAND FOR A RECOUNT

Detroit Wants Report From Smelters on Aluminum Collection Race.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The city of Detroit wants a recount before it pays off the two used frying pans it lost to Cleveland in an aluminum collection race, Mayor Edward Blythin revealed today.

In a statement to Mayor Blythin, Mayor Jeffries of the Auto City asked for a "poundage report from the smelters" and threatened to carry the battle to the supreme court.

Although Detroit collected more poundage, Cleveland's per capita collection, on which count the bet was made, was greater.

STAGE POT AND PAN CAMPAIGN AT BUCYRUS

Belated Collection of Old Aluminum Started In Crawford County.

BUCYRUS — Somewhat behind the national drive for collection of old aluminum for defense purposes, the Bucyrus campaign got under way here Monday under the direction of George T. Dustman, chairman.

A container has been built on Washington square for the deposit of the metal.

Little co-operation in the drive was reported in rural sections of the county where more than 40 collection points were established, Dustman said.

Bucyrus Girl Wed In Quiet Church Ceremony Sunday

BUCYRUS—Good Hope Lutheran church was the scene of the marraige Sunday afternoon of Miss Virginia Kurtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kurtz, 900 Sherman street and Gerald Tomlinson, son of Mrs. Elta Tomlinson of Columbus.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Grant Shealy of Brookville, Ind., cousin of the bride, assisted by the Rev. H. H. Glick of Bucyrus.

Attendants were Miss Virginia Buchter of Mansfield and Mrs. Otto Mahler of Columbus, and Miss June Ann Kurtz, young sister of the bride, who was junior bridesmaid. Flower girls were Kathleen Haala and Phyllis Quaintance. George Tomlinson of Columbus, brother of the groom served as best man and ushers were Harry Steiger and Otto Mahler of Columbus.

The couple will be at home in their newly completed home in Grandview, a suburb of Columbus upon their return from a two weeks' trip through the eastern states.

The former Mrs. Kurtz is a graduate of Bucyrus high school and prior to her marriage was employed as secretary in the Columbus headquarters of the National Youth Administration.

Mr. Tomlinson attended Franklin college and is now accountant and employment manager of Bliss college.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD OHIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 5, 1941

Technical question—Is the "verge of war" closer than the "brink"?

It is said that two and a half million automobiles are scrapped in a year—but maybe they're not always the ones that should be.

"I thoroughly agree," surprisingly announces Senator Wheeler. "That something has got to be done about prices" —and it's nice to have the senator agree on something.

Quick End of War Unlikely

WISHFUL THINKING, rather than any foundation based on conditions, seems to be responsible for an increase in predictions, or "hunches" that "the war will be over within six months."

Such an optimistic forecast might be encouraged by belief that Russia will shortly be able to drive the invading Nazis out of that country and proceed with offensive warfare in German territory, as an ally of Great Britain, but nothing has occurred thus far to justify any such an idea.

The fact that Russia is presenting a much better fighting front than had been expected, and that Nazi advances are being accompanied by heavy losses, has been a helpful factor in relieving the immediate pressure on Britain and giving time to strengthen the forces fighting against Hitlerism, but any hope of a quick finish of the war seems ill-founded and likely to be productive of harm by tending to reduce interest in America's defensive measures.

Safer ground is to accept the temporary defeat of Russia as a foregone conclusion, to look to the Mediterranean as the next probable area of Nazi activities and to consider Japan as a constant menace in the Far East, with the Panama Canal as America's most vulnerable point of effective attack.

It is important, meanwhile, that this country's defense and aid-to-Britain program proceed at top speed and that no feeling of false security be permitted to spread in this hemisphere.

More Highway Patrolmen Soon

A NEW law that becomes effective this week authorizes an increase of 100 men in the state highway patrol, bringing the total to 800. The law has also been amended to give highway patrolmen general police powers in all instances where motor vehicles on the highways are even indirectly involved in crimes.

Started eight years ago with 61 men, the state highway patrol has given outstanding proof of its value in increasing highway safety and also in giving quick attention to traffic accidents.

Its gradual growth and expansion of powers has been fully justified by experience and the personnel has been kept at such a high standard as to merit the confidence and respect of all law abiding motorists.

Age limits for employment of highway patrolmen, which had heretofore been from 24 to 41 years, have just been changed to the 21 to 35 range.

By coincidence, the increase in state highway patrolmen is timely timed to coordinate with the start-off of Mansfield's new traffic squad, and the combined efforts of these two groups may be expected to bring better enforcement of traffic laws and regulations both inside and outside of the city.

Source of Anonymous Letters

NEWSPAPERS and individual news men are getting an abnormally big bag of anonymous mail these days. Anonymous letters are usually abusive. They are written by people who are cowardly about identification. The present output has another common feature. Arthur Scott of Edison and Pettibone, explains what this is, as observed in the obscene mail he himself receives.

"With a collection that now runs close to the century mark, we find a curious identity among many of them. The postmarks vary widely, the handwriting is obviously disguised but at least a score of scurrilous pieces bear evidence that they come from the same source."

The same source, he declares, spews the ridiculous rumors about conditions in the U. S. Army fires and camps and fosters the campaign against extension of the service period for grandstand, reserve officers and enlisted men.

"That job is being engineered by people who are never seen and never named, and we haven't any doubt that it is being done in the interests of nations which don't want an effective U. S. army or navy."

It is something for gullible and easily terrified persons to think about. When they swallow scare-tales and spread rumors they are playing Hitler's interests. Patriotism calls for more good sense and skepticism.

England's Nifty Major-General

HATS OFF to Maj. Gen. Roger H. Lee, last bulwark of the Frogmore set, in England, as the British army and the fleet women prepare to send him a present. Such a send-off deserves a salute. Take a bow, Major General Lee, and may you live to command an army of 50,000 women in trousers and short skirt uniforms.

Former Atlanta mayor is dubbed "the Duke of the Middle" but Maggie Atlanta remains a sweet pastry. There are to be new, distinguished faces and hundred pounds for several Nazis plus burial of the Fuehrer's star right and that is that. She'll know the reason why—and she expects to have a force of 200,000 army paratroopers in formation by the closing secretarial recommendations and other tasks that will then confront us relative need for typing.

Those Forward-Looking Nazis

THE NAZIS are already to occupy England. The automobile manufacturers are all ready to make cars for the Nazis. Every automobile plant, airplane factory, chemical works and engineering office has its instructions appointed. Needless to say, the political and military considerations are all laid out as well.

Plans for carrying on American affairs may not yet be developed to quite so high a state of detailed perfection, but there can be no longer any doubt that there are blueprints, maps and files in readiness for future use. Not buried, either—just tucked away in some filing cabinet easily and quickly available.

It seems to be the idea of some people that we shouldn't "go to war"—that we should wait for the war to come to us.

Bad Temper Is Habit

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

AFTER all your personal life must go on, whether there's a war on or not. And the happiness or misery of that personal life will still depend upon yourself and your relationship to those with whom you partake problems, regardless of Messrs. Stalin or Hitler.

Take for example, this matter of BAD TEMPERS. There is no habit which causes more pain in your domestic or social relations—none which has a greater influence on your character, success or failure as human beings. Yet at the same time [illegible]

CHAPTER XXVI

At the sound of Jimmy Allen's name Doris felt her face grow white. She clasped her hands nervously as she looked from her nurse to Bonnie.

"Jimmy's here?" she repeated in a small voice.

"That's right. Do you want to see him?" Miss Hargrave asked.

Doris saw her nurse's stiffly starched figure and wondered how she could be so calm.

"Of course I want to see him!" she said excitedly, and as Miss Hargrave left the room Doris looked at Bonnie. "He's come!" And her eyes lit up like twin stars.

Bonnie patted her arm. "I'll get out and leave you alone," she promised.

Doris seized the comb on the little table beside her. "Do I look all right? Oh, Bonnie, hand me that powder puff!"

"You look gorgeous," her friend assured her. "Now don't worry, honey. Everything's going to be all right."

Before Bonnie could leave, the door opened and Jimmy Allen appeared. He stood, hat in hand, looking at Doris. His face was grave, but as handsome as ever. He looked through Bonnie as if she were not present; when she slipped from the room neither Doris nor Jimmy knew.

"Jimmy!" Doris said tremulously.

Instantly he was at her side. "Doris! Sweetheart! Darling! I've been so worried."

He sat by the bed and took her hand. "Forgive me, sweet I know how things must look to you, but it's all right now."

"Don't talk," Doris murmured. "Nothing matters except that you're here." Her eyes flooded with tears as she stroked his sleek black head. He was here! Her Jimmy! Handsome, reckless, moody Jimmy!" Penitent, loving and close beside her. "Oh, darling," Doris whispered, "hold me close. It's been so long."

He drew her into his arms and she clung to him, weeping. As he held her close, he stroked her hair as though she were a little girl.

"Don't cry, sweetheart! There's nothing more to worry about."

But Doris could not stop weeping. She had loved him, wanted him—for so long. She could not believe this moment was real. Somebody would snatch him from her arms again.

"Don't go away," she pleaded. "Please, don't leave me."

He soothed her, dried her eyes with his handkerchief and then, holding both thin hands tightly in his, he said, "Darling, I've got to leave you in a few minutes. There's a plane waiting for me now."

"But why? Where are you going?"

"I haven't time to explain now, dear. But you must trust me."

Her blue eyes surveyed him with dismay, remembering.

"Your wife?" she faltered.

"Doris," he commanded, "I haven't much time, but I do want you to understand this. She isn't my wife any more."

Her heart leaped to his words.

"I haven't time to explain now but there's one thing I want to ask you."

Her eyes smiled into his. "What?"

"I'll be back in two weeks. Then I'm going to Honolulu. Will you go with me? We can be married right away."

* * *

The past was forgotten. Her tears splashed down upon the pink maribou jacket Bonnie had just given her.

"Darling," she said. Her words were almost inarticulate but Jimmy understood them: "Oh, Jimmy! I love you so much!"

He cradled her head against his shoulder as he said, "I love you too, Doris! More than anything in this world!"

Their lips met in the thrilling kiss of reunion.

"Sweetheart! You do trust me?"

"Yes! But come back as soon as you can."

"In two weeks," he promised.

"And," she repeated, "You're not married—now?"

"The divorce was granted last week," he said simply. "It's all over."

"Then why are you going away?" she persisted childishly.

"I haven't time to go into that now, but it's something that's going to make you happy. That's why I'm doing it."

"I trust you, Jimmy," Doris repeated.

They spoke then of foolish, unimportant things, while their hands touched and their eyes caressed each other.

"I have to go in a few minutes," Jimmy said huskily.

"Two weeks is a long time."

"It's the last time I'll ever leave you. We're going to be together for the rest of our lives. And we'll have our honeymoon in Hawaii. Will you like that?"

"Like it? Oh, Jimmy, it's wonderful!"

He smiled. "You're not through with shipboard romance, then?"

They laughed softly.

"I have to go now, sweetheart."

"No." She clung to him. "We haven't had a chance to talk at all. There's so much I want to know."

"Later," he said frimly. "I don't want you to worry about anything. Take care of yourself, dear. Get well."

"I will. I'm well already. Seeing you is all I needed."

He kissed her tenderly, then picked up his hat and overcoat.

"Good-bye, darling. Be a good girl now."

She smiled through her tears. "Good-bye, Jimmy. Hurry back!"

And he was gone.

Doris felt as though the sun had gone under a cloud the moment he left the room. But the sight of him had been a tonic. Miss Hargrave found her patient wide-eyed and radiant.

"I'm going to marry him!" Doris announced rapturously. "He'll be back in two weeks. Where's Bonnie? I've got to tell her!"

Almost at once Bonnie appeared. "What a man!" she was saying breathlessly. "Doris, he's wonderful! He's the handsomest man I've ever laid eyes on! I don't blame you for being mad about him. Tell me—what's happened?"

"We're going to be married," Doris said, "in two weeks."

"Then his wife did get her divorce?"

"Apparently. He said it was all over . . . We're going to Honolulu on our honeymoon. Oh, Bonnie, I can't believe it!"

"But what did he say about George Malone? Did he explain anything?"

"No." Doris admitted. "He said he had a plane waiting—he had to leave. I don't know where or why, but he told me not to worry. And I'm not going to. We'll be married in two weeks and that's all that matters to me. That's all I'm going to think about."

"You're absolutely right, honey," Bonnie agreed.

After Jimmy's visit, Doris gained in strength every day. New healthy color appeared in her cheeks and her eyes began to sparkle with their old vitality. She was allowed to walk around her room, later to the sun porch at the end of the hospital corridor. She did not even mind when reporters and police questioned her. The experience with George Malone was so far in the past to her that it had ceased to matter. Doris counted the days until Jimmy would return.

But there were times when she wondered — wondered about unexplained facts that mystified her. The police did not seem to know that Malone was her father. Why? And Jimmy had refused to discuss the case with her. Why had his wife met the boat at New York?

Then the most important question of all. Why had Jimmy listened to May Whittier's story that Doris was marrying him for his money? Why had he told her that their wedding was off? He had broken their engagement, yet he had come back to her and asked her to marry him—without a word of explanation. Had he found out that May was lying?

Over and over these questions went through her mind, but she did not know the answer, could not even imagine them—she had promised Jimmy not to worry. She was not going to let her health and morale be undermined again by uncertainty.

Her heart clung to Jimmy's promise that he would return and explain everything. They would be married in two weeks. That was all that mattered.

And so the days slipped slowly by. Bonnie had wanted Doris to go with her to her apartment and stay until Jimmy returned.

"I suppose I'd better do it," Doris told Miss Hargrave. "I'll have to borrow the money to pay my bill here as it is."

Miss Hargrave looked at her in surprise. "But Mr. Allen has paid all the bills in advance. He said you were to stay here until he got back."

"Jimmy? You mean he did that the day he was here?"

"Yes. He stopped at the desk on his way out and made all the arrangements."

Doris told this to Bonnie, adding, "so I think I'd better stay here. Jimmy wouldn't like it if I left."

"That was swell of him to do it," Bonnie said. "You're a lucky girl, Doris. He's not only practically the best looking man in the world but he's one of the richest men in Chicago. At least that's what Don says."

"It worries me," Doris admitted. "He has too much for his own good. He won't look after the business he inherited or take an interest in anything connected with it. He's been a playboy for so long I sometimes wonder if he'll ever settle down. And then there's his family. Oh, Bonnie, what if they don't like me? What if they think I'm not good enough for Jimmy? After all, I'm just a girl from Klane's basement . . . and you know how people feel about that."

"That's ridiculous!" Bonnie protested hotly. "They'll be crazy about you. Why not? You're the sweetest girl in the world."

"Maybe you're prejudiced," Doris smiled. "Anyway, I'm certainly going to do everything I can to make them like me."

But a shadow had dimmed her happiness.

THEATERS

New Cartoons.

Kenneth Grahame's story of the dragon that would rather write poetry than fight gives the name to Walt Disney's new production, "The Reluctant Dragon," showing at the Madison, and also furnishes one of its most unusual novelty sequences. The production that takes the audience through the Disney studio, showing the artists at work and cartoons in the process of animation, features Robert Benchley in the role of a bewildered visitor and Frances Gifford as a studio worker. "Baby Weems," a mental wizard at birth., and "How to Ride a Horse" are among the other novelties. Cesar Romero is featured in "Dance Hall," the second attraction.

Dual Role.

Marlene Dietrich effects a complete transformation in "The Flame of New Orleans," showing at the Park, when she switches from the role of an European noblewoman to that of a gaudy cafe girl. Bent upon obtaining a wealthy husband she first poses as a noblewoman and then resorts to the cafe girl's character when she is forced to play another imposter. Roland Young, Bruce Cabot, Mischo Auer and Andy Devine are in the cast. Roscoe Karns appears in "Petticoat Politics," a Higgins family picture, the second attraction.

Rollicking Comedy.

Bette Davis and James Cagney continue their rollicking way in "The Bride Came C. O. D.," showing at the Ohio. Dealing with a spoiled daughter of the rich who meets an aviator bent on increasing his bankroll the play has most of its action laid in a desert ghost town where the plane grounds. Jack Carson, who appeared with Cagney in "Strawberry Blonde," Eugene Pallette and Stuart Erwin are in the cast.

Hypnotism Mystery.

"The Vampire Bat," opening Wednesday at the Ritz, is a mystery thriller based on hypnotism. Designed to keep the audience in suspense from beginning to end it features among its players Lionel Atwill, Fay Wray, and Melvin Douglas. "Zeigfeld Girl," with James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr, also "Nevada City," starring Roy Rogers, continue today.

HOLLYWOOD—Time was when a movie audience had some privacy.

You could slip into a cinema emporium, slide into a seat, and sink back for a couple of hours of comparative freedom from outside disturbance.

You could look at the picture and maybe you liked it and maybe you didn't, but at least you were in command and the picture never came down off the screen and got personal with you.

It didn't make personal remarks at you, it never took you slyly into its confidence, and it certainly never startled you by coming down the aisle and sitting in your lap.

Now I'm not saying this is happening now, nor that maybe it wouldn't be a nice boost to business if it did happen—the lap-sitting, I mean, especially if done by the right parties, Miss Betty Grable, say.

All I'm saying is that it's on the way, and if you're agin it, now's the time to speak up.

LIKE many another evil, this potential lap-sitting is difficult to trace to its source. The stage obviously started it with the old "aside," and it has been creeping into the movies, in more or less innocent guise, for years. "That's all, Folks," the little fellow in the Merrie Melodies always said. Then there were the fade-out clinches, even in the silents, in which the hero coyly turned to the audience and pulled down a curtain before copping a kiss.

A movie called "The Villain Still Pursued Her" got bolder, glorified the "aside" and invited the audience to hiss the villain. Then somewhere along the line the Marx Brothers—Groucho in particular—got in one of those confidential remarks to us innocent by-sitters when he turned point-blank and said, "The Hays office won't let us get by with this."

The other night "My Life With Caroline" was unreeling smoothly when up pops Ronald Colman and, after a little preliminary acting, steps up front and talks right at us.

NOW there's "Hellzapoppin." Olsen and Johnson, having panicked Broadway by talking to, at, and around their audiences, are working up similar stunts for the picture. They're going to talk over our heads, bawling out the movie projectionist when the film goes haywire, and they're cooking up assorted forms of conversation with the audience.

This may be all well and good if done in the right picture, but suppose you're drowsing through a movie and suddenly an actor on the screen asks you a question. You can't ignore it, for Emily would think you rude. You can't say, "Beg pardon?" for your neighbors would stare. You're in a spot, a social misfit, the death of the party.

So don't say I didn't warn you. And don't look to me for help when it's too late and Betty Grable is already tripping down the aisle.

MISS NAOMI STUTZ WILL MARRY W. S. EDWARDS

Closed Candlelight Service to Be Solemnized Wednesday Evening, Aug. 27, at 7:30 O'Clock at the St. John's Evangelical Church.

MANSFIELD friends of Miss Naomi Mildred Stutz, daughter of Mrs. Louise L. Stutz, 451 Newman street, will be interested to learn of her coming marriage to William Surdival Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Edwards, 115 Crestview road, Columbus. Announcement of the engagement and approaching nuptials is being made today.

The wedding will take place following Miss Stutz's return from New York City where she has spent the summer as a secretary at Columbia university.

August 27 has been chosen for the closed candlelight service at the St. John's Evangelical church. On that Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock Miss Stutz will repeat the nuptial vows with Mr. Edwards, who has been employed as industrial arts instructor at the John Simpson Junior high school for the past year. Miss Stutz, who has been employed as secretary to the principal at John Simpson Junior high school, since her graduation here, has also spent the past five summers at Columbia university serving as office secretary.

She is president of the Rho chapter, Chi Sigma, national social sorority, and has served as province secretary of this organization. Mr. Edwards is a graduate of Delphos high school and Ohio State university where he was affiliated with the Lambda Chi fraternity. At the close of the school year Mr. Edwards accepted a position with the Curtiss-Wright Aircraft corporation of Columbus as an engineer. The young couple will reside in Columbus following their wedding.

Eileen Logan Honored With Nuptial Party

Miss Eileen Logan, 551 South Main street, the fiancee of Mr. Robert D. Kile of Muncie, Ind., whose wedding will take place Aug. 16 in St. Louis, Mo., is the guest of honor at pre-nuptial parties this month. Last evening Mrs. John Lannan, Vennum avenue, sister of the honoree, entertained for her at the former's home. Mrs. Lannan will serve as matron of honor for Miss Logan.

Bridge was the diversion of the party and prizes were won by Mrs. Howard Barnes, Mrs. Ardale Paul and Miss Miriam Bean. At the close of the games a luncheon was served at one long table attractively appointed in bridal decorations—all in white. A miniature bridal doll surrounded by greenery surrounded the table.

The guests surprised Miss Logan with a shower of kitchen gifts and Mrs. Lannan gave her a gift. Tonight office associates of the bride-to-be will honor her with a party at the Woods, near Ashland.

Recipes

Pickled Peaches

4 cups sugar, white or brown
2 cups vinegar
Whole cloves
2 Tblsp stick cinnamon
4 qts. peaches

You can pickle peaches in their skins, in which case wash them and rub off the fuzz; or peel if you prefer, and in either case stick 2 or 3 whole cloves in each. Combine sugar, vinegar and cinnamon, boil mixture 5 minutes, then add peaches, but do not crowd them in the syrup. Put enough in at a time so that they can be cooked loosely. Cook until done, about 5 minutes, then fill hot, sterilized jars with fruit, fill up with boiling syrup and seal.

Larkspur Club Organized And Officers Chosen

Mrs. Bertha Coleman was elected president of the recently organized Larkspur club when members held their meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Coleman, 348 East Fourth street. Other officers named were Mrs. Regina Gresser, treasurer, and Mrs. Elmira Caugherty, secretary. Plans were made to do welfare work at the club's regular meetings.

Following the business session games were played. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Nettie Mentzer and Mrs. Clara Johns. Luncheon was served at a long table decorated with larkspur and mixed garden flowers. Mrs. Clara Johns, 117 East Temple court, will entertain the club at her home Aug. 27.

New Lines For Fall Dresses Says Stylist

Tunics and peplums on everything from your town dress to your best-loved dance frock. One of these with a Russian tunic, featured red and blue embroidery on a black Celanese creative fabric.

The surplice neckline, so becoming to practically all figures, has a wrapped-look about it, achieving an attractive V-line at the neck, with a draped, snug fit about the bodice, pulled into a bias, low hipline. This idea in original creations by Edith Head for the wardrobe of Paulette Goddard.

Snail shells and sequins. Used in irridescent colorings on a gown of pale blue Celanese rayon satin and net, designed by Tina Leser, and reminiscent of her collection inspired by Honolulu and the South seas.

Chinese coolie hats with tassels and crocheted brims designed by Sally Victor, shown with a Chinese blue wool frock faced with canary yellow, and similar styles featured by Tina Leser.

Philadelphia Story.

Included in the Tina Leser collection was a group of dresses inspired by a trunk of clothes from an old attic in Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia. There were adaptations of crocheted yokes, pockets trimmed with loops of black wool yarn; black crocheted trimming on a gold colored frock; and black silk braid on a green wool dress.

Gowns of stiff, bouffant skirts and basque jackets of Celanese slipper satin in bronzey brown, as well as dark green taffetas.

A black seal tippet is worn with a gold satin gown ornamented with hand-painted scrolls.

Side-saddle drapery is shown in dinner gowns with jackets by Eleanor Jenkins.

Persian-cobalt . . . a purplish shade of blue featured by a foremost designer of fall costumes. Blotta and Conti are showing their American collection of customer-suits with bright wool jackets ensembled with black. Red, gold, blue, purple are all used.

Beautiful black afternoon frocks combine black wool with black satin from Celanese creative fabrics.

MANSFIELD MAN WEDS COLUMBUS GIRL HERE

Quiet Ceremony Solemnized Monday Evening at First Lutheran Church for Miss Jane Geis and Sergeant Clifford Yarman.

REV. MILTON JOHNSON, assistant pastor of the First Lutheran church, officiated at the quiet wedding of Miss Jane Geis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Geis, Columbus, and Sgt. Clifford L. Yarman, Fort Hayes, Ohio, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Yarman, 70 Harker street. The closed ceremony was performed Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Lutheran church.

For her wedding the bride was attired in a rose lace frock with blue accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias and roses. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weber, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, attended them. Mrs. Weber wore a blue and white ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate families at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Buffet luncheon was served from a long table decorated with garden flowers and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride attended Columbus high school and has been employed at a drug store in Columbus. Mr. Yarman is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and is stationed with the army at Fort Hayes, Columbus, O. Following the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a blue ensemble with white accessories. The couple will reside in Columbus.

MEET AT CLUB HOUSE.

Astowela Garden club members will meet Friday at 11 a. m. at the Women's club for their regular session. Mrs. C. A. Sullens will serve as hostess. Assisting her will be associate hostess, Mrs. H. H. Shaw.

DeMolay Mothers To Give Benefit Card Party

The second in the series of benefit card parties to be given by the DeMolay Mothers club will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Frank Bissman home, weather permitting. In case of inclement weather the committee has arranged for the party to be held in the Bissman home and in the Donald Given residence near by.

The lovely gardens at the Bissman residence, 611 Bigelow road, will be the scene of the attractively planned party. Proceeds of the affair will be given to the DeMolay lodge for young men. Although the Mothers club is a comparatively new organization, having been formed in March, it has done much to further the good cause of the boys' group.

Cards and bingo will be the diversion and music will be heard during the afternoon. Dainty boutonnieres will be given as favors to the ladies and refreshments will be served late in the afternoon. The party will begin at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Walter Dow is general chairman of arrangements and will be assisted by Mrs. Donald Given, Mrs. Virgil Norris, Mrs. Frank Bissman, Mrs. Foster Diehl, Mrs. William Teale, and Mrs. E. Myers.

Lily Ponds and Husband Have Close Careers

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

When one is an out-and-out glamour girl with a supreme gift which has landed her before the footlights of the Metropolitan Opera House, then three years of marriage without a hint of divorce or even disagreement is a record.

That's the story of Lily Pons and her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, who cut a huge cake the other day at their country place in Connecticut, in celebration of their third anniversary of wedded bliss. The triumph of amity betwene these two is the more remarkable because their careers have been close enough to cause possible professional jealousy.

Kosty is happy in the thought that his Lily sings with the voice of an angel, and Lily agrees that no one has ever played her accompaniments or made as much of some of her vocal arrangements as Kosty. The worm in the apple of this true Garden of Eden is that these wedded lovers are so often separated by professional engagements.

Lily is on tour about nine months of the year, and Kosty is tied down to his New York broadcasting. Both insist, with some degree of warmth, that that is not at all the reason they find themselves so happily married.

Their particular recipe for "How to be happy though married" would not have been possible even a generation ago. Perhaps like so many other prima donnas and orchestral conductors, these two might have found life anything but a bed of roses had it not been for the invention of the Wright Brothers that laughs at space even as love is said to laugh at locksmiths.

For Kosty has been known to dash from New York to Texas, New Orleans, Florida and California for a few hours visit with Lily.

In spite of being a prima donna, Lily is open to reason. Take the matter of that pet ocelot, for example, a tigerish sort of beast that goes through life with a chip on its shoulder. There was no mutual love between Kosty and the ocelot which, like the leopard, declined to change its spots. Kosty didn't like to have him around, bouncing out of dark corners, so Lily sent him to the Bronx zoo.

They share a mutual affection for many other animals. They have ten tropical birds, one of which is a parrot who has the conceit to imagine he can sing. There are three dogs—a big English sheepdog, a West Highland terrier, a French bull-dog—and a Persian cat which has just had quintuplets.

They have one theory which, with profit, might be adopted by every husband and wife in these United States. It is that at least once a year they should make a pilgrimage to some new point of interest.

This year's jaunt was a four days' trip to Colonial Williamsburg, where they travelled around unrecognized by fellow tourists.

High Style Fashions, Fancy Work

By MARIAN MARTIN

Whether you go to business . . . run a busy household . . . teach school . . . or do club work, you need a smart new shirtwaister! Here it is, in a slenderizing frock. The collar, with its fascinating, step-like shape, is becoming in crisp, white, with trim cuffs to match if you choose the three-quarter sleeve version. You might prefer a self-fabric collar and either short or long sleeves. The gently bloused bodice is darted at the shoulders and above the waistline to hold the softness neatly in place; the skirt has a front panel. Choose a novelty print or wool.

Pattern 9775 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3⅝ yards 39 inch fabric and ⅛ yard contrast.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

That Noel was in the grip of one of the "terrible rages," which Olga had told me were his heritage from the royal house of which his father was a member by "bar sinister,' was as evident as was the fact that he was conscious of nothing outside his purpose to find Mary and Redfield.

He was a bundle of explosive with the fuse burning, and I knew that I had my work cut out for me. I found that while one part of my brain was swiftly planning how best to deal with him, the other was circling frantically around the question as to what had happened to enrage him since he, apparently in full control of himself, had left me in Mary's company, to go back to the party and prove, by their apparently amicable entrance together, that the explosion of his temper which I had prevented really had amounted to nothing.

Noel In a Rage.

"Mary ought to be here at any minute," I said. "She left here a while ago to see your stepmother for me—something which I had forgotten. As for Redfield, I haven't the slightest idea where he is."

I told myself that I was speaking only the truth, for I had not the remotest idea where Philip Veritzen—to use a phrase from Mary's vernacular — was "parking" Redfield for what remained of the night.

But Noel's next explosive question sent an alarm signal of caution to my brain cells.

"Do you mean to tell me you haven't seen him since you left the party?" he demanded, and there was that in his tone which told me that either he had seen Redfield come to my door, or that someone else had reported that fact to him.

"Oh, yes," I returned with apparent casualness. "He came over here a little while ago, and said that he must see me for five minutes about something extremely important."

Calmed By Madge.

"About Mary, I suppose?" Noel said venomously. "Oh, if only I could get my hands on that cur's neck!"

"No, Mary wasn't mentioned," I answered truthfully, ignoring his threat. "He talked about something entirely different; something which I am sure will astound you as much as it did me."

But Noel had no room for curiosity in his almost crazed brain.

"It must have been Mary," he repeated obstinately. "She was with him, wasn't she?"

The last words were almost a shriek, and I went up to him and slapped him soundly on both cheeks. He started back, blank astonishment infusing the fury in his eyes, and I pushed him into the nearest chair with a force sufficient to keep him there for the seconds I needed to drive home the words with which I wished to arrest his attention.

"I am not accustomed to having anyone accuse me of lying, Noel," I said icily. "Therefore, I have punished your insolence in the only way which I believe may bring you to your senses. I need not tell you that I am waiting for your apology."

I watched him closely, warily, for I did not know how strong a force was the inheritance of fury which was riding him, and I was not sure that he might not forget his breeding and lash out at me with a blow.

Blind Fury Is Quelled.

But his training held, and I saw the blind fury go out of his face as if someone had wiped it off with a wet cloth. Pallor and anguished humiliation succeeded it, and it was a stammering and ashamed boy who finally faltered out an abject apology.

"Oh, Aunt Madge! I am so sorry! I didn't mean— Can you ever forgive me? But I've been through hell tonight."

I put my hand upon his shoulder again, but gently this time, and spoke with quick condonement and reassurance.

"Of course I forgive you, Noel, and I understand. But I expect you to believe me when I tell you that you have no cause for either your anger or your suspicion."

Spiced Fruits Go Well With Chop Suey

By BETSY NEWMAN

SERVE spiced fruit — apple, pear or peach—with chop suey. With each helping of chop suey serve a small lettuce leaf with a spiced fruit on it.

Today's Menu.

Chop Suey Spiced Fruit
Buttered Beets Carrot Sticks
Hot Baking Powder Biscuits
Ginger Pears Iced Coffee

Chop Suey

Chicken or other meat
1 Tblsp. butter
¾ cup celery
1 onion
6 mushroom caps
1 cup meat stock
¼ tsp sugar
2 tsps. soy sauce
½ green pepper
1 tsp. cornstarch
2 Tblsps cold water

Cut chicken, veal, beef or pork into strips 1 inch long and saute in 1 tablespoon butter for 2 minutes, then add celery cut into thin slices, onion peeled and sliced and mushrooms. Cook 5 minutes and add meat stock, sugar, sauce, green pepper cut in strips and cornstarch diluted in cold water. Bring to boiling point and let simmer until meat and vegetables are done. You may use cooked left-over meat if you prefer.

Ginger Pear

Pears
Sugar
Lemons
Gingerroot or preserved ginger

After paring and coring the pears, cut in small, uniform pieces. For each pound of fruit use ½ to ¾ pounds sugar, 1 or 2 pieces of gingerroot and ½ lemon thinly sliced and with seeds removed. Combine sliced pears and sugar in alternate layers and let them stand 8 to 10 hours or overnight, before cooking. Boil lemon for about 5 minutes in only enough water to cover, add lemon and what water remains and gingerroot to pear and sugar mixture. Boil rapidly and stir constantly until fruit is clear and of a rich amber color, then pour into hot sterilized glasses and seal.

Eye-Strain Dulls Beauty Radiance

By MME. QUI VIVE

Many women, eager in the pursuit of good looks, flinging money for grand rags and sessions at the beautytorium, abuse their eyes shamefully. They realize that eyesight is impaired but will not put on specs. No likee glasses. They read on moving trains, sew in a dim light, pay little heed to proper lighting arrangements in the home. The result is that, no matter how much war paint they carry on their faces, they look fatigued, under a strain.

Nervousness and depression can often be traced to poor vision. The soul lanterns are protesting, calling out for help, the central nervous system is sympathetic. The act of vision is performed by the brain. The eyeball is a camera, a sensitive mechanism that receives and transmits impressions to the higher centers of sight.

It seems too bad that eyes should suffer neglect and abuse. At the first sign of trouble an eye specialist should be consulted. Strange that some women will spend cash-coin freely for whatever will make them decorative, yet will economize on matters that have to do with health, which is the foundation of the temple of beauty. They are penny wise and dollars foolish.

Vanity is the reason for postponing the day for wearing glasses, just as vanity is the moving force that causes some women to clump around on spiked heels. Very silly.

After the age of 40 few eyes are perfect. For those who have lessened powers of vision the lenses of the eye glasses supply ease and accommodation. Desk workers use up more of the vitality of the optic mechanism than those whose employment keeps them out of doors. Loss of vitality is reflected in the state of the health and in appearance. Keep that in mind, if you are chasing beauty rainbows.

Persistent headaches may be a warning that human lamps are under a tension. The blinking habit may be just a demonstration of nervousness or it may be caused by some slight irritation of the eyelids. Squinting is often due to impaired vision; the lids close in an endeavor to avoid strong lights, to shade the eyes and provide comfort for them. What squinting does to the surrounding tissues need not be told. You'll get turkey tracks or sun rays or crowsfeet.

If type blurs when you are reading, watch out, something is wrong. Or, if the letters run together, or the eyelids twitch. Drowsiness that comes quickly when you start to read may signify that your pretty keepers need professional attention.

If it is necessary to hold reading matter closer than 12 inches from the eyes, or if distant objects are seen through a haze, it is time to make a date with an eye specialist.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, August 6.

Events of a sudden and surprising turn, that might be considered radical or revolutionary in their denouements, are forecast by the interesting chain of planetary configurations. This force may descend with drastic precipitancy after a long siege of stagnant or crystallized conditions, and might prove an unrooting factor of far reaching influence on the future and its security, its fortune and position. Lands, possessions, work, investments and plans may be stabilized, with the insight and executive ability to grasp the unusual openings for new and daring but enduring ventures. Be wise with funds and with writings.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of splendid opportunity for placing their future, its fortunes, its success and happiness, upon a sound, stable and enduring basis. Such opportunity is likely to be precipitated with breath-taking suddenness, and cause no little surprise. Out of the skies may come uncommon rewards for labor and steadfastness. Investments and possessions may increase, unique talents and techniques may be recognized and find promotion funds, with elders and established institutions assisting to sound objectives. The mind and finer faculties should be keen to grasp these unforeseen openings. But exercise some little prudence with funds and nervous energies and with writings and agreements; don't be carried away by over-expansive ideas.

A child born on this day should be bounteously endowed with talents, qualities and higher faculties, or intuition, to make for itself a firm and fortunate foundation in life. It will have originality, independence, industry, perhaps a unique and adventurous form of creative expression.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT PRICE WISDOM?

Little does it profit a player to exercise what he considers wisdom during the bidding if he cannot back it up during the play. When all is said and done, contract bridge is a game of playing the cards, and all that the bidding amounts to is an effort to forecast what is going to happen in the play. There is nothing more disheartening than to think you have put over a "fast" one during the auction, and then find that it exploded right into your face.

West thought the smart thing to do, with his tremendous hand, which he had bid very lightly, was to pass the 3-No Trumps instead of doubling, as he feared the double would scare his opponents into a profitable diamond contract. He laid down three heart tops, then switched to the club K. South ducked, and he then led the club J. It was too bad he did that. A switch to the spade K would have broken communication between the dummy and South's hand, except for the diamond Q and would have insured a one-trick set. But West picked the clubs for two leads because he had a three-card sequence in the suit.

South counted up after the club K lead, saw seven sure tricks in sight and a chance for a progressive squeeze on West for the other two if West would repeat the club. So he ducked and West obliged by repeating clubs with the J. South took that with his A, raked in the diamond Q, K and A and the heart 10, then led his fourth diamond, on which West had to discard. He couldn't break his spade K-Q, for fear of setting up that whole suit in dummy. The heart 9 would be equally bad, setting up the 8, which he knew South held. So he threw off the club Q, hoping his partner had the 10. South, of course, put dummy's club 8 on this, then led the club 10. West was squeezed again. Once more he had to hold the heart 9, so put on the spade Q, hoping his partner had the J. But South did, led it to the A to drop the K and finished with the spade 10, making his contract. The saddest thing, from West's viewpoint, is that the post-mortem showed his opponents could have been chastised if they took out a double of No Trumps into diamonds.

Garden Will Add to Good Life

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

In the crowded areas of big cities there is no room nor sunshine for gardens. But surrounding the homes of the more open spaces there are ample room and sunshine. During recent years there has been considerable progress in beautifying town and city homes with shrubs and flowers, though a mere beginning still.

During the last eight months Mrs. Myers and I have motored through more than half the states of the nation. We kept looking for vegetable and flower gardens about the rural homes. The sight of such was about as rare as oasis in a desert.

Too Few Gardens.

The nation over, as a rule, the richer the land the fewer the gardens and less beautiful the rural homes. Just compare the average rural home, for example among the barren hills of New England or parts of Pennsylvania with the rural homes of the plains states. Here I recall the hilly old farm on which I grew up in Little Cove, Franklin County, Pa. We had some shrubs and flowers which we grew practically without cost. We should, of course, have had more. We certainly had a vegetable garden and I labored in it many long hours—got good education from doing so.

To have a garden in the place where I grew up was just the thing to do. Everybody had a garden, day laborers as well as real farmers, and the children learned to plant, cultivate and harvest it. There were no gentlemen farmers or absentee owners in that community.

Garden Crusaders.

I have often wondered why normal schools and teachers' colleges have not more often trained and inspired teachers to go out in rural areas as crusaders for more vegetable and flower gardens and more beautiful rural homes, average rural homes, I mean.

As I often say before conventions of rural teachers, if I were a country school teacher again I would try to make the children and their parents feel proud of where they live, want to beautify their homes and improve their communities. I would try to be an agent for rural art, rural health and rural economy. Cows, chickens, shrubs, flowers, vegetables for every rural residence would be my goal, so children and their whole families could have the best food and beautiful surroundings at the lowest possible cost.

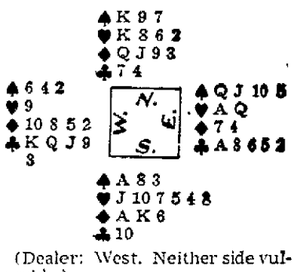
In the last analysis, isn't it just a matter of good traditions and wise education?

Solving Parent Problems.

Q. My five-year-old child gets so excited and talks and fools so much with the older children at the table she will forget to eat.

A. At such times calmly assign her to finish her meal in another room alone.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West leads the club K against South's 4-Hearts, what should be East's defensive plan to set the contract he had doubled?

AMNESIA LEAVES MANSFIELDER IN PEORIA HOSPITAL

Youth Gets Sidetracked on Way To Army Camp In Massachusetts.

Willard Wise, 21, of 190 South Franklin avenue, who left home more than two weeks ago to return to his army post at Fort Devens, Mass., and never reached there, was recovering from an attack of amnesia today in a Peoria, Ill., hospital.

The youth's mother, Mrs. Ben Wise, is with him, waiting for him to recover so she can bring him home. She was summoned to his bedside Saturday after he mumbled his name to Peoria authorities who had sought for three days to identify him.

Wise was found unconscious last Wednesday on the sidewalk in front of a Peoria church. He was taken to a hospital by police. The only identification mark police could find was a label inside his suit which had "The Buckeye Store, Mansfield, O.," on it. The store has gone out of business, and police were unable to contact his parents with the meager information the label afforded.

By Friday night the youth had regained consciousness and was able to give his name and address to authorities. His parents were called to Peoria, the mother remaining with him. Hospital attaches said he probably would be able to return home late this week.

Relatives here said the youth left Mansfield for Camp Devens after spending a furlough at home. His parents took him as far as Ashland and he started hitchhiking from there.

At the hospital Wise could remember getting as far as Erie, Pa., but said he had no memory of what happened after that or how he reached Peoria. He complains of severe pains in his head, relatives said.

His mother told police he had frequent headaches before enlisting in the regular army last February. She said he lost his glasses in camp and had not replaced them. When found he was wearing army shoes with civilian clothing.

Sees Comeback On Way for More Expensive Cigars

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(INS)—Expensive cigars—a sure mark of good times—apparently are returning to favor again, and things are picking up once more with George Johnson, one of the few remaining cigar makers in Salt Lake City.

Johnson believes the higher priced smokes are definitely in—at least until the next depression. "Cigars pretty much follow the financial conditions of the times," he said recently in the little shop where he turns out hand-rolled Perfectos and "Banker's Specials."

"When business is good," Johnson continued, "men smoke ten-cent and two-for-a-quarter cigars. But when business falls off, men either stop smoking altogether or use tobacco in some other form.

Currently, he noted, the trend is towards smoking cigars, and the trend in cigars is towards the more expensive brands. Cigar making is really an art, Johnson insisted, and the personality of the maker is put into his product, just as a painter gives his pictures his own individual touch.

LOSES APPEAL FOR NEW TRIAL

Telephone Company's Motion Denied In Ohio Bell Suit.

The Mansfield Telephone company's motion for a new trial of a $10,035 judgment action against it had been overruled today in Richland county common pleas court and the firm was ordered to pay that amount to the Ohio Bell Telephone company.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston ruled in favor of Ohio Bell several weeks ago after the Mansfield firm had filed a cross-petition seeking a judgment for $1,596 against the plaintiff company.

The $10,035 judgment was awarded Ohio Bell on a claim for toll charges. In its answer and cross-petition the Mansfield Telephone company contended it had offered to pay the claim after deducting the $1,596 it held was due it for floor space rental and other charges. The Ohio Bell company refused to accept payment on that basis, the Mansfield firm contended.

SAVES EXPRESS FROM LANDSLIDE

LONDON—(U.P.)—Spurred on by terrible mind pictures of an express train crashing into a landslide, William Walker, a 19-year-old fireman, ran a mile over rough track in seven minutes to save the train.

Walker was working on the line when he saw part of the bank collapse across the track. The Aberdeen-Elgin express was due at that point in 10 minutes. It was nearly a mile to the nearest signal box.

He was so exhausted when he reached the signal box that he could only make signs to the signalman to pull the signal lever. Then he grabbed a red flag and stood there waving it as the train drew up in front of him.

MR. AND MRS. PUBLIC TO GET CHANCE TO SEE STEEL MADE

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, who have been reading a lot about the importance of steel in national defense, will get a chance to see how steel is made next week.

Oliver H. Henkel, treasurer of Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, today announced that the company would hold open house for the first time in its history—next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Visitors will start, Henkel said, at the main office building where they will see samples of the different products Empire sheet steel is used to manufacture.

Next they will be taken to the open hearth plant where they will see a 2,000-degree furnace form molten steel which will be poured into steel ingots.

From there they will move to the bar mill where the ingots are rolled into sheet bars.

Last stop, Henkel continued, will be at the South plant where hot mills and a sheet mill squeeze the bars into sheet metal ready to be processed into finished products.

Henkel said visiting hours had been slated from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m., and that directed tours of not more than 20 persons per guide would be arranged during that time. Each tour is scheduled to last approximately an hour, he concluded.

CLASS STUDIES HOW TO SPEND

Stephens College Students Learn How To Budget Their Funds.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—(U.P.)—It is just as important, Stephens college officials decided, to know how to spend money as it is to know how to earn it.

Once the decision was made, authorities at the girls' school moved on three fronts to carry out their ideas. They established a course in Personal Finance, opened a consultation office where students may obtain advice on their budgetary problems, and, third, informed the parents of their action.

The course and the clinic were established by the Institute for Consumer Education, a project of the Alfred P. Sloan foundation, Inc., through the college.

In the course the students are taught how to save and how to spend wisely. The underlying principles of budgeting and money management are explained. "Homework" consists of keeping a daily record of income and expenditures and the budget of each month's needs. The class operates its own savings institution to receive temporary deposits consisting mostly of the overflow saved by students through their supervised budgeting.

The clinic is open to class members and other Stephens students alike. All students are offered the opportunity of using the budget system through planning with clinic advisers on anticipated expenses and proper allocation of income. More than 1,200 consultations have been held at the clinic since last fall.

A sample budget and a brochure explaining the plan are sent to parents. The "hint" is obvious. If their daughter's expenditures seem excessive, the evidence to check on her conveniently is at hand. Parental pressure may have some bearing on the course's heavy enrollment.

The course's textbook published in Columbia, was written by Miss Rufie Lee Williams, conductor of the clinic and Dr. James E. Mendenhall, educational director of the institute. It was illustrated by a student.

Three Motorists Who Figured In Crashes Are Fined

Three motorists were fined for traffic violations in connection with collisions on state highways near Mansfield yesterday by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court.

Fred Carr, Washington, D. C., was fined $150 and costs for careless and reckless driving on route 30. Harold F. Lux, Shelby, was fined $100 and costs for unsafe operation after a collision on route 39. Judge Kalbfleisch suspended $75 of the fine pending Lux's payment of $55 damages to the owner of the damaged auto.

Harold W. Sellers, Loudonville, arrested by state highway patrolmen on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident after he allegedly struck another car on route 97 east of Butler, was fined $150 and costs with $125 suspended pending payment of damages.

Judge Kalbfleisch also fined 14 persons arrested on intoxication charges over the week-end $5 and costs each.

PAYS BALANCE

Ex-Mansfielder Settles With Court on Liquor Fine.

Samuel Miller, former Mansfielder, found guilty of the illegal possession of alcohol for sale two years ago, paid the last installment of a $100 fine yesterday in Municipal court.

Miller was fined in 1939 but was allowed to pay off the fine in installments, the court taking out a bond for that amount.

Last week, the time of the bond expired and Miller had paid only $233.60. Police picked him up in Crestline and brought him to Mansfield to serve time for the $166.40 of the fine and the $22.10 of costs still owed.

Miller decided that "he couldn't afford" to stay in jail and handed over the required $188.50.

Minister Quits Pulpit to Become Paper's Editor

COLUMBUS—(INS)—From Presbyterian minister to small town newspaper editor is the step to be taken by Rev. Frank D. Harris, now pastor of the Columbus Presbyterian church.

He is resigning the pulpit he has held for seven years to step into the printshop at Shirley, Ind., a community of 800. There he will become editor-publisher of the Shirley News, thus fulfilling a life-long ambition.

Harris is not entirely a stranger to journalism, having contributed as a free lance to several newspapers and once handling a music column in the Steubenville, O., Gazette. He promises to "do things a little different," because the "weekly newspapers that amount to anything all have a reputation for doing things a little out of the ordinary."

TIRED FEELING CAUSED BY HEAT

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(U.P.)—People who suffer from spring fever aren't just naturally lazy—they are merely reacting to a sudden change in temperature.

That's what Dr. Helmut Landsberg, assistant professor of geophysics at Pennsylvania State College says to console those who feel guilty when warm weather starts to roll around.

When the first warm days come, Dr. Landsberg said, the body finds it difficult to adapt itself to the heat, which, he added, is more dangerous to health than cold.

The condition of spring fever is aggravated among city dwellers by the fact that the combustion processes increase the heat of the air and cause a gain in temperature, the geophysicist added.

Mansfielders Who Had News-Journal Follow Them By Air Daily Return from Alaskan Trip

Party of 6 Kept Natives Above Arctic Circle Up on World News.

Six Mansfield residents have returned from a 12,000-mile trip that took them into the frozen wastes of Alaska—but they had their News-Journal with them every day they were up there.

The six are Dr. and Mrs. Erling Smedal, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Houston, their 18-year-old son, William, all of 456 Park avenue west, and Justine Sterkel, 14 Sturges avenue.

They kept up on the news by having The News-Journal delivered to them by air mail daily, and they reported it never took more than four days for the paper to reach them, even at the most northern point they reached — McKinley park, Yukon territory, which is far above the Arctic circle.

"The News-Journal was our only contact with the outside world for weeks," Houston, assistant postmaster, said, "Towns in Alaska are too small to support newspapers with wire services, and often war news in The News-Journal gave Alaskans their first knowledge of what was going on. We used to pass our papers around."

"About the most exciting experience we had," he continued, "was when our boat, the 'Cascade,' was wrecked on the Yukon river near White Horse. We were stranded on a sand bar for seven hours until another boat from White Horse picked us up and continued the voyage."

The Mansfield party left here June 22, going by train to Seattle, where they boarded the steamer Mt. McKinley for Ketchikan, Juno and Skagway. From there they went by train to Carcross, Alaska, and again boarded a steamer for West Taku Arm, farther north in Alaska. Once more they boarded a train, with their destination White Horse, on the famed Yukon river.

It was at White Horse they boarded the steamer Cascade, which took them to Dawson and Fort Yukon, where they first saw the midnight sun. After other side trips, they returned to Fairbanks, went by train to Seward and back to Seattle on the Mt. McKinley.

Later they visited Victoria and Vancouver, British Columbia, Lake Louise and Banff before returning home.

Dr. Smedal, who will return to Mansfield in a week, after visiting his parents in Madison, Wis., served twice during the trip as an emergency doctor. At one stop where the natives had been out of touch with a doctor since their missionary doctor had died, he delivered a still-born baby.

At another stop, a native woman boarded the boat with a child who had been suffering from pneumonia for eight days without medical attention. Dr. Smedal and three other doctors aboard did all they could for the child, but it died four hours after the ship cast off from shore and headed for the nearest hospital.

"Every day," continued Houston "we sat on the deck in sweaters and overcoats and read about the heat waves in Mansfield until it got so chilly we had to go back into the cabin. It stayed between 34 and 50 degrees the entire trip and that in spite of midnight sun."

At first the travelers admitted, the midnight sun upset their sleeping. They said it was pretty hard to get used to sleeping during broad daylight, but after a bit they became accustomed to it.

One gold miner that Houston recalled was from Southern California. After "grubbing" for three years he'd found a spot where he could mine $100 worth of gold daily with the aid of two helpers.

He'd been doing this for two years during the three months that it was warm enough to work the mines and during the rest of the time he lived in the United States. Now, however, the army had called him and he was returning for service.

William T. Houston, assistant Mansfield postmaster, looks over the cancelled wrappers that brought him and five other Mansfielders their daily News-Journal by air mail while they were on a 12,000-mile trip to Alaska. At no time, says Houston, did it take more than four days for the paper to reach them, and often it brought them their first knowledge of world events, since but few Alaskan papers have wire services.

FARMS MAY GET UTAH STUDENTS

Plan For Mobilization Is Drafted By Leaders at Salt Lake City.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(U.P.)—A plan for mobilization of Utah high school students to meet an expected shortage in agricultural labor resulting from selective service and the defense program has been drafted by farm leaders in Salt Lake City.

Representatives of the Utah State Farm Bureau Federation, the Works Projects Administration, the federal re-employment system, and of the schools and L.D.S. church joined in working out details of the program.

Although endorsed by Gov. Herbert B. Maw, the plan awaits final approval of school authorities before becoming effective. There have been some intimations that it would meet opposition from union labor, although there has been no effort to organize farm workers in the state.

As drafted, the program calls for three major steps:

1—Registration of all able-bodied, male students willing to accept agricultural employment.

2—Registration of all growers, with their labor needs.

3—Provision for transporting school workers from one district to another, and for dismissal of certified, employed youths from classes during harvest seasons.

The plan has a double objective—first, to meet the shortage, and second, to discourage an influx of migratory workers and thus keep Utah money in the state.

In past years, a number of schools in sugar beet areas have arranged temporary suspensions to release students for work in the harvest fields.

However, the pea, tomato and corn harvest have been left to adult workers and last year more than $100,000 was paid to migratory workers who emigrated elsewhere immediately after the seasons ended.

Children Put 'Gone With the Wind' On Stage

NEW ORLEANS—(INS)—The world premiere of "Gone With the Wind," stage version, presented before a capacity short-pants audience of 100 at the Alley theater in New Orleans, was a rousing success.

Versatility, if not experience, was characteristic of the cast. When one embyro Thespian was forced to the sidelines a few days before opening night, on account of the mumps, his several roles were distributed among a crowd of stand-ins, who stood in for whichever member of the cast might falter.

The Alley theater, being an open-air house located in a driveway, the limitations of space, money and so forth imposed many alterations in the original plans.

Counting cuts, slashes and omissions in the script, the play still consumed two and a half hours. It boosted 40 scenes — considered pretty good, in local quarters, for The Children's Hollywood club, which staged the "extravaganza."

Council To Vote On Special Tax Assessment Bond

City council will be presented with legislation for the issuing of $33,700 in bonds for improvement of ten city streets at its meeting tonight. The bonds would be issued in anticipation of special tax assessments against property owners with land abutting the improvements.

The bond issue is drawn to pay the unpaid balances on the improvements which include: Barnard avenue, grading, $1,700; Fourth street, repaving, $13,450; Grover street, sanitary sewer, $1,350; Lind avenue, grading, $1,000; Overlook avenue, sanitary sewer, $5,525; Overlook avenue and alley, sanitary sewer, $1,750; Park avenue west and Glenbeck lane, sanitary sewer, $2,850; Parkview and Poplar street, sanitary sewer, $3,375; and Taylor road, sanitary sewer, $1,850.

AMATEUR NIGHTS ADDED AT CAMP

CAMP ROBINSON, Ark.—(U.P.)—Camp movie theaters don't have bank night or free dishes, so one of Little Rock's belles, Miss Kathleen England, junior hostess, has inaugurated a series of stunt, quiz and amateur nights at the soldier's club.

Here the soldiers will compete for prizes for the best trick, answering a tough question or singing in a husky baritone or high tenor.

STATE GUARD'S UNIFORMS DUE

Company F Soon To Get Last of Equipment; Will Go To Camp on Aug. 24.

Uniforms for Mansfield's Co. F, of the Ohio State Guard, are due to arrive this week, Capt. Glenn L. Bierly announced today.

Bierly said he had been informed by State Adjutant General Whittier S. Bird that the Mansfield unit and 2,035 other Ohio Guardsmen should be completely uniformed by the end of the week. The uniforms are a light blue.

The Mansfield company received Enfield rifles last week for drill. Tonight members will get typhoid "shots."

Company F will join other units of the Third regiment at Camp Perry for a week's training starting Aug. 24. The First regiment will train there a week earlier with the newly formed state naval militia.

DELAYS HEARING

County Board Holds Up Action on Ditch Assessment.

Richland county commissioners yesterday continued for 30 days an assessment hearing on the Grandview Terrace ditch south of Mansfield and set Aug. 25 for a hearing on the proposed extension of Illinois avenue in Lincoln Heights.

The ditch hearing, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed when C. C. Constance who circulated a petition for its construction, failed to appear, commissioners said.

Commissioners set the date for the Illinois avenue hearing after receiving a petition to extend it a distance of 482 feet to connect with the Pulver List road. They will view the site of the proposed extension on Aug. 18.

OFFERS SKILL TO HOME GUARD

LONDON—(U.P.)—An officer of the Home Guard, one of whose jobs would be looking for parachutists in the event of an attempted invasion was told: "You want poachers. They're best. They move on velvet—and they can almost hear silence."

"Where can we get one?" he asked.

Soon after, a man who applied to enlist, said: "In peace time, I'm a poacher."

"But we can't have poachers," said the officer. "Who sent you along?"

To his amazement, the would-be recruit replied: "The police."

GEN. JOHNSON: Draft Substitute Price Control Bill

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A good deal of nonsense has been written about the new economic defense board, headed by Vice President Wallace.

In the first place, it has been asserted that this is the long awaited industrial mobilization central authority comparable with the war industries board. It is nothing of the kind. It is an agency to use the overseas bearing of American economic forces to strangle potential enemies and help potential friends. As such it is very essential and is long long overdue. But it does not remotely compare with the still unfulfilled and indispensible war industries board the purpose of which is (1) to accelerate war production and (2) to conserve supplies for the civilian population.

To this latter necessity we have given only a lick and a promise—a lazy lick and a poor promise. All action thus far indicates but a blundering effort to accelerate war production and no effort at all to conserve civilian supply and morale.

As for the Wallace board, it compares with the World war trade board, but not with the World war industries board. To the proper functioning of the latter it is, or should be, merely an auxiliary.

The truth of this criticism about domestic chaos was dramatized last week in the "Hellzapoppin" show that was put on—paralyzing the silk industry, threatening to paralyze automotive transportation in the east, cutting off a principal export market for cotton and petroleum, suggestion of a general price stabilization by fiat, but leaving the principal elements of cost, food and wages to rise at will, bungling of the conscription act, and a tax bill which, ineffable inequities adds one more area of bitter American resentment to the many others certain to result from the other headlong, unstudied and inept action just recited.

Much of the desired result of all this is necessary and unavoidable, but the means to reach those results have been demonstrably headlong, grotesque and impossible.

As for the Wallace economic defense board, it is said on the one hand that the purpose of its personnel is to enlarge the stature of Wallace as presidential timber and on the other that his selection was due to his great knowledge of world economics and his popularity in South America because he has recently learned to speak Spanish.

If the former is the reason, it is an almost obscene reason. This is no time to put incompetents in key positions for political reasons of a possible bearing three years hence.

About Wallace learning to speak Spanish in middle age, I wouldn't know. It is the easiest of the romance languages in which to become superficially glib.

But that is a long way from converting an Iowa farm boy into an expert on Latin America in language, economics or politics.

No cabinet board under the present overwhelming duties of the departments can be a working board and as for Wallace being an expert on our export trade, all he has done so far is to push a price-pegging policy which has practically destroyed, in favor of other countries, our export market for farm products.

Furthermore, if that board is to be superior to and not merely coordinate with some central agency for domestic mobilization it means that the needs of other countries are to take precedence over our own needs—about which, at this stage, nobody seems to give a damn.

Well, somebody had better give a damn. To repeat for the nth time, "civilian morale is as important as military morale."

SHORTER WORK WEEK TALKED AT LABOR MEET

State Federation of Labor Would Increase Number of Shifts at Plants.

(By United Press)

YOUNGSTOWN—A resolution calling for a shorter work week and multiple-shift operations in defense armament plants was prepared today for introduction to the 57th annual convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor.

Condemning "employer-sponsored" moves to lengthen the work-week in defense industries, the resolution said that shorter hours would increase the efficiency of workers. It asked for rest periods and adequate health and accident safeguards to help maintain high production standards.

AFL unions at government munitions plants under construction at Ravenna and Sandusky took "holidays" last week-end in protest against six-day work weeks without "adequate" overtime pay.

The resolution said that "long hours mean injured health and lost efficiency."

Other resolutions being drawn up for consideration, according to Thomas J. Donnelly, secretary of the state federation, include demands for increased old age pensions, rehabilitation of physical handicapped workers who have skills needed in defense industries, and condemnation of the Vinson bill and similar anti-strike measures now before congress.

Voting on resolutions is not expected before tomorrow. Delegates to the convention heard several speakers this morning and then adjourned for sightseeing this afternoon.

Michael J. Lyden, Youngstown, state president, said that 415 delegates had registered so far and that total attendance this week was expected to surpass the record 518 which registered for the 1939 convention at Akron.

UP AND DOWN THE STREET

Two young Mansfield musicians are "right up there" today in the world of swing. They are Gene Lantz, 146 Marion avenue, and Ted Bare, 611 Highland avenue, who have been invited to Chicago by Benny Goodman, swing band leader whose orchestra is playing at the Hotel Sherman there. Neither young man took any instruments so it is not known if the youths will be offered a job or not. Bare beats the drums and sat in with Goodman when the band was at Cedar Point. Lantz plays the clarinet and sax.

At least one Mansfield motorist wasn't taking any chances on not having her car properly equipped with rear illumination last night. Driving along West fourth street with three other women companions she passed the Mulberry intersection where workmen were painting cross walk markings. As her car edged past the barricade, the rear bumper snagged one of the red lanterns and toted it glimmering down the street. The driver discovered her "added accessory," however, and one of her companions was attempting to get it free of the bumper when a street department employ arrived to provide much-needed help.

A party or some other form of entertainment is being eagerly anticipated by the boys and girls of the Robin Hood club, summer reading course sponsored by the Mansfield Public library. The gathering will climax the season for members who have completed 10 books and submitted as many written reports. Thirty members have already hit the bull's-eye target, denoting progress made by the 192 members, and the other arrows are rapidly moving towards the center.

Although the city of Mansfield is not in the florist business, council will be asked to pay a claim of $6 for 300 honeysuckle plants. E. R. Hershey is asking the city to pay him for the plants which were used to combat erosion at an intersection of Central avenue last year. Despite a desperate attempt, the honeysuckle was unable to stop the erosion. It was washed away itself.

REPUBLICANS WILL PROPOSE RIGID CREDIT

Special GOP Policy Committee To Meet Tonight To Start Work on Measure.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—A drastic substitute for the administration's price fixing bill, embodying provisions for rigid credit control, will be offered by house Republicans, members of a special GOP price control policy committee disclosed today.

The disclosure came as the house banking and currency committee, after a 24-hour delay, was to hear supporting testimony for the administration's far-reaching measure from Leon Henderson, chief of the office of price administration and civilian supply.

Rep. Wolcott (R. Mich.), chairman of the special Republican committee, called a meeting of the group for this evening to start work on the proposed GOP substitute measure.

Wolcott predicted the Republican plan will be to set up iron-right control over public and private credit under administration of a quasi-judicial board rather than a single individual.

"Our plan would set up even more sweeping control over prices, but it would do it by attacking the threat of inflation it its source," Wolcott said. "If you can check it there, check credit expansion such as installment buying, and exercise existing monetary controls, you can prevent inflation without setting on general arbitrary price ceilings.

"The administration plan to try to stop it at the top through these ceilings is apt to wreck our entire economy unless some steps are taken for control at the base.

"In any event, we will oppose any move to set up an economic dictator and will seek to have control of inflation put in the hands of a board with quasi-judicial powers."

Meanwhile, on the Democratic side, Rep. Gore (D. Tenn.), a member of the banking committee, served notice that he will insist that a definite time limitation be placed in the pending bill.

As the measure now stands, the president would be given power to fix price ceilings, control low-cost rents, and to take other drastic steps to combat inflation. His power would last for one year after the end of the present emergency, unless congress ends it sooner.

Meanwhile, Sen. Thomas (D. Okla.) said the senate agriculture committee, of which he is a member, will conclude hearings this week on his bill to raise the agricultural parity price level 20 per cent, and redraft this measure as an amendment to the price fixing proposal.

(Economists define parity as the level at which the purchasing power of agriculture equalled that of industry during the period 1909-14.)

As the price fixing measure now stands, the president could fix no agricultural price under 110 per cent of parity, or below the July 29 level, whichever was higher. The Thomas bill would define the parity level at 120 per cent of present scales, or 10 per cent higher than the limit in price fixing bill.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

I wonder how it feels to be Pola Negri, back in New York after her adventures on the continent, a little older, a little less heavily made up, much less in the public eye—but probably still a big star in her own heart?

She was one of the Hollywood sirens who really behaved as people in those early flicker days expected a star to behave—temperament on the set, feuds with other players off the set, a colorful and always semi-public private life, high spot of which was her romance with Rudolph Valentino.

Dorothy Kilgallen

Pola was the big "entrance" in those days, what Marlene Dietrich is now. When she walked into a room you could hear trumpets blowing, even if the room was a kitchen and she was only going in to scramble an egg.

I'm told that business for the click shows is better than it's been around Broadway during any summer for the past ten years. "Arsenic and Old Lace" hangs out the S. R. O. sign nightly, and "Panama Hattie," "My Sister Eileen," "Watch on the Rhine," "Pal Joey" and "The Corn Is Green" are all reaping box office harvests.

The little caged men who sell the tickets report that most theater-goers during the hot months come from out-of-town and rush to see the plays that are left of all the ones they've read about during the season.

One drama critic from another city, John Y. Kohl of Allentown, Pa., is even now in town gathering material for a piece on what an ideal vacation spot the Big City really is. Moreover, he is set to prove that it is cheaper than most seashore or mountain resorts. And much nicer, too, as I always said.

A friend just returned from Hollywood and a tour of the Walt Disney studios reports that the "rushes" on Dumbo, the wonderful pink elephant, are as sensational as I dreamed they would be. Dumbo is the elephant who drinks champagne and wakes up in a tree, and concludes that he must be able to fly. I can't wait to see Dumbo.

From Margie Young, the "Hellzapoppin" chorine, I learn that showgirls have evolved a theory as to why the professional models have stolen the spotlight from them. Margie says the models deliberately drift into the more gilded hot spots and haunts of the wealthy, where they will get attention, and to accomplish this, they eschew the poor but honest suitors in favor of lads with chubby bankrolls.

Chorines, on the other hand—says Margie—choose their beaux for fun, and are apt as not to find themselves in simple places, with no photographers to take their pictures for the papers.

Funny how important voices are, and how great an asset a really memorable one is. You know how it is; one person you know for ten years, and he can still call you on the phone and say "Guess who this is?" in his ordinary voice, and you can't guess—another voice could pop up behind you in the middle of the Libyan desert, or some equally improbable place, and you'd know it instantly.

Most recognizable voices I can think of offhand are those of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Fred Allen, Alfred Lunt, Ethel Merman, Rudy Vallee and Charlie McCarthy. You probably can think of dozens more.

OPEN SESSIONS

Free Methodists Start Yearly Conference at Camp Today.

The annual Ohio state conference of the Free Methodist church started at 2 p. m. this afternoon at the church's permanent camp southeast of Mansfield on State Route 39 with 200 church members enrolled. Bishop C. V. Fairbairn of Topeka, Kans., presides.

Next Saturday at 2 p. m. the bishop will hear the ministers' reports and assign them for the coming year.

This morning Rev. F. Lincicome of Gary, Ind., preached on the "Four Great Needs of the Church."

Rev. Lincicome said that "one reason we have so many non-church-goers is because we have so many non-going-churches. One does not need to be a close observer to see the church is not an altogether going concern," he said.

CIO WINS TOOL PLANT ELECTION

Designated Bargaining Agent For Employes At Newcomerstown.

NEWCOMERSTOWN —(U.P.)— The steel workers organizing committee (CIO) today was designated as bargaining agent for employes in the Heller Brothers' tool plant which has been closed by a CIO strike since July 7.

The SWOC yesterday won an election conducted by the national labor relations board among Heller employes. The SWOC received 801 votes and the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, drop forgers and Helpers (AFL), 20.

ROUNDABOUT

Private Enters U. S. Army Via a Rather Roundabout Route.

CAMP CALLAN, Calif.—(AP)—Private Clifford E. Withdrow entered the army via a rather roundabout route.

He registered for the draft in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, received his questionnaire in Gallup, N. M., and took his physical examination in Atlanta, Ga. He got his notice in Northampton, Mass., reported in his home town, Springboro, O., and was inducted at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and came to this California post.

That, in the opinion of some of the boys, makes him the all-American selectee.

WITNESS DUST BOWL BATTLE

Vegetable Growers Visit Ohio Marsh To See Windbreaks Built By Farmers.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Members of the Vegetable Growers association of America today visited the 16,000-acre McGuffey marsh in western Ohio to see how owners of the muck land are battling to keep wind from blowing it away.

Approximately 2,000 acres of this extremely rich soil, especially suitable to onion growing, have disappeared since its cultivation began about 50 years ago.

The muck, a composition of decayed vegetable matter peculiar to swamps, once averaged eight feet in depth. Now it is 30 inches deep. The soil is churned up by cultivation, oxidizes and dries, and actually is blown away by the wind, Ohio State university experts said.

To combat the devastation, land owners have built windbreaks of trees, fences of wire and cloth and have sown strips of rye.

Some of the land has yielded $1,000 worth of onions per acre, although the planting of this vegetable has declined in the McGuffey marsh from 10,000 acres to about 1,200.

Besides the marsh, which lies in Hardin county west of Kenton, the delegates to the vegetable growers' convention inspected the state experimental muck farm at McGuffey.

EATS BILL IN BARROOM PRANK

Watchmaker Held on Bond After Swallowing $100 Note.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Anthony Haen, 42, a watchmaker, was in jail today with orders from Magistrate William Farrell to "cough up" a $100 bill which he had swallowed as a barroom prank.

Haen was taken into court on a complaint of William B. Butler, a salesman, who charged that when he displayed the bill in a tavern, the watchmaker snatched it from him and swallowed it.

When an x-ray examination failed to reveal the money he had eaten, Magistrate Farrell issued his "cough up" order and had Haen held on bail for the amount of the complaint.

FACES CHARGE

Former O.S.R. Inmate To Be Arraigned Today For Shootings.

A month after he was released from Ohio penitentiary in Columbus after serving a term for burglary, Thomas Williams, 36, a former Mansfield reformatory inmate wailed today to be arraigned in Toledo municipal court on a charge of first degree murder.

Thomas was sentenced to Mansfield reformatory from Wooster in 1932 for burglary and was transferred to the penitentiary in 1936. In Toledo he is charged with wounding two Toledo men fatally and shooting an 18-year-old youth during a $140 holdup of the Toledo Ice and Coal company last Friday.

WOMAN MYSTERIOUSLY STABBED, PITTSBURGH POLICE HOLD SON, 15

(By International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—Mrs. Ruth D Eskey, an x-ray technician at Homestead hospital, was found mysteriously stabbed and beaten in her east end apartment today.

As her assailant, police said they were holding her 15-year-old son, John Richard Eskey, home on a vacation from a southern boys' academy.

Although the woman suffered two stab wounds in the back, 20 cuts on the scalp and scratches on her face and had one of her teeth knocked out, Shady Side hospital attaches said she probably would recover. Her son was treated for a cut or bite on his left hand and a small cut on his head.

The stabbing was discovered shortly after midnight when neighbors reported hearing screams and sounds of a violent struggle going on in the Eskey apartment.

Mrs. Eskey was too weak from loss of blood to be questioned.

John told police:

"About 12:15 I heard a commotion. I woke up. I saw a form on the floor, slumped against my mother's bed. I thought it was the assailant.

"I crawled on my hands and knees toward the form. One of my hands touched a pool of blood and my other hand touched a knife. I used the knife twice.

"I heard the door (behind him) slam. I did not see anybody. I bolted the door with the chain."

Police said that earlier John had told them a different version of the stabbing and that he had mentioned something about "a woman."

PLAN TOUR

Mansfield Physicians Will Go To Mexico City Conference.

Two Mansfield doctors are planning to attend the International assembly of the International College of Surgeons in Mexico City from Aug. 10 to 14.

They are Dr. D. R. Talbot and Dr. J. A. Reed; they will make their headquarters at the Hotel Reform in Mexico.

Manual Avilo Camacho, president of Mexico, will address the gathering of North and South American physicians on Aug. 10. After the scientific meeting, which is supported by the U. S State Department as being a move toward better Pan American relations, the doctors will spend a week viewing conditions in Mexico before returning to Mansfield.

AT INSTITUTE

146 Mansfielders Attend Sessions For Methodists at Lakeside.

A hundred forty-six Mansfielders today were among the 239 persons who had registered for the week-long institute of the Mansfield and Norwalk districts of the Methodist church which opened yesterday at Lakeside.

The institute includes both senior high school and post-high school sessions.

SET VOTE DATE ON BARGAINING

Union, Martin Steel Officials Confer With U. S. Agent.

Workers at the Martin Steel Products corporation today were scheduled to ballot Aug. 12 in a consent election to determine whether or not the local chapter of United Electrical Radio and Machine workers, CIO, shall be the sole bargaining agency for employes of the company.

The election was arranged at a conference of company and union officials with Baker McAlpin, field representative of the department of labor, this morning. Carl Oberlin, president and treasurer of the company, said.

ILL SHORT TIME

Mrs. Mary Horner Succumbs In Shelby Hospital.

SHELBY.—Mrs. Mary Horner, 72 Walnut street, died early this morning at Shelby Memorial hospital. She had been ill since Sunday.

Mrs. Horner had been a resident of Shelby for the most of her life.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Lloyd Steiner of South Gamble street, and Mrs. Herman Dick of Dayton; five sons, Frank at home, Dow, John, and Ralph of Shelby, and Boyd, now in Florida.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon.

SATISFACTION

Moral Is To Try Again If You Don't Succeed At First.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—(AP)—Mrs. Howard Clare was irked when she shot a six on the par-three No. 10 hole at Terre Haute Country club in a tournament.

She finished the round and went back, vowing, "I'll master this hole!"

Her first practice shot on the 160-yard hole was an ace.

Social Medicine Law Effective Today In Ohio

A new state law, sponsored by the Ohio Medical association and authorizing establishment of medical service associations went into effect today.

But no action had been taken in Mansfield regarding organization of an association designed to provide adequate medical and surgical service at low cost to persons in low income groups because Dr. C. R. Damron, who recently was placed in charge of plans for formation of a local association, is on vacation in New York state.

According to the plan, single persons with incomes of not more than $1,800 per year and persons with dependents who have incomes of not more than $2,400 per year will join associations licensed by the State superintendent of insurance, which will aid them with medical expenses.

Dr. Damron's office said today that the doctor had been working with state headquarters on the organization and that as soon as he returned action and meetings would probably be scheduled and the association formed.

Satch Paige and Monarchs Easily Defeat Liberties

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Your Mansfield Braves are rapidly acquiring a set of nicknames the like of which they never dreamed of before.

Manager Alex Clowson picked up the name of "Skipper," but naturally. That was nothing new since he answered to the same tag last year in the Canadian-American league.

Tiny Tim Mangan has become accustomed in the past few weeks to hearing himself called "Slugger," and even modest Timothy has registered no complaint against the monicker.

* * *

Lefty Bob Kuzava still insists that he's as Irish as anything else, even with that last name, so the boys are calling him "Irish," as much as anything else.

The pronunciation of Bobby TeStruth's last name still has one and all baffled, and you never hear it pronounced the same way twice in a row, but the ball players solve the problem by calling him "Tee."

* * *

Just so they hit, it's all the same.
We shouldn't care what's in a name.

* * *

Bill Salem has begun to hit to the encouraging shouts of "Come on Salami." But Bill is no cold meat on those base paths. He's a Whirlawav, which is getting a long way from Salami.

But the best in the way of new nicknames has been reserved for Eddie Mutryn.

* * *

Not long ago a fan making his first trip to the Fairground ball yard, came down to the press shack to ask:

"Which one is that Mute Rind who hits all the home runs?"

And it didn't take the wags in the shanty long to change that to Mutton Rind, and Mutton Rind it is whether Eddie likes it or not. And I understand the answer is definitely "NOT!"

* * *

Pity parents when they pick names,
And then hear their offsprings' nicknames.

Such disrespect!

When the umpires and managers congregated at home plate Sunday to discuss ground rules before the game, one player shouted from the Lima dugout:

"Save your dirty stories until after the game, and let's get started."

Which reminds me of the story Jack Kronett, Fostoria sports writer tells me of the public address system's open mike in the Fostoria press box last summer.

A visitor to the press box started telling a dirty story, not knowing that the mike was picking up every word and sending it out over the loud speakers until a woman in the stands yelled:

* * *

"Hurry up and tell the rest rest of it. I want to know how it ends."

Country Club Hires Guards

Jock Collins, pro at Westbrook Country club, announced today that armed guard would be stationed at the club locker house with orders to shoot all prowlers.

The locker house had been broken into three times this year, Jock said, and a total of 16 to 18 dollars has been stolen.

The last time the locker house was broken into, Jock says, the thieves apparently hooked an automobile on to the wire holding the door. They couldn't have opened the door any other way, Collins declares.

KOVACS MEETS MAKO

RYE, N. Y.—(AP)—Frankie Kovacs, third-seeded, takes on Gene Mako, the Los Angeles veteran and ex-Davis cup star, in a second-round engagement today in the feature match of the eastern grass court tennis championship. National Champion McNeill looked for an easier tussle against William Umstaedter of Millburn, N. J.

PERRONI DROPS DECISION

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(AP)—Giving heighth and reach to a heavier opponent, Patsy Perroni, 196-pound Canton, O., battler, displayed remarkable defensive ability but lost a 10-round decision to Roscoe Tolles, Detroit negro, here last night. Tolles' 201 pounds were too much for Perroni, who tired early.

Indians Show-Up At Home

Make First Appearance After Sad Road Trip.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians, back from a disastrous eastern trip, make their first appearance before the home folks tonight in a rather apprehensive mood.

But tribal fans, hardened over the years to mid-summer foldups, are expected to be more indifferent than hostile.

Four defeats in 11 starts along the seaboard dropped the Redskins 12 games behind New York and out of the race. They lead third-place Boston by 5½ games.

Al Smith, one of the club's winners of late and now sporting seven victories and seven defeats, will pitch against the invading Tigers. Big Buck Newsom drew the Detroit nomination.

The Bengals play here again tomorrow and Thursday. Idle on Friday, the Indians tackle Chicago Saturday and Sunday and then swing through the west.

Bob Feller, baseball's leading pitcher, was called to a doctor's office today by his draft board for a preliminary physical examination.

If pronounced fit, the 22-year-old Cleveland ace will undergo a later test by army doctors before being inducted.

Selective service officials said there was little chance of the Iowan wearing a soldier's uniform before the end of the season. His board 20 number is 2,857 and less than 2,500 registrants have been classified.

The brash Brooklyn Dodgers are back home, hoping to fatten their pennant appetite on helpless eastern brethren, and everything is in their favor.

After floundering around the west for several days they managed to return with a four-game winning streak and last night they promptly made it five by overpowering the staggering New York Giants, 11-6.

From now until the western clubs start their final circuit of the east Aug 18 the Dodgers' opposition will be the Giants, whom they have beaten seven out of 11; the Boston Braves, who have been their victims nine out of 11; and the last-place Phillies, whom they have whipped in 11 out of 12.

The Dodgers are back in stride. Both Whitlow Wyatt and Kirby Higbe have become winning pitchers again. Dolph Camilli has regained his batting eye and the whole club has regained the drive which characterized it at the start of the season.

Meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals face a sternet task. They have to subdue the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs, all of whom are striving to get back into the race.

Yesterday they cuffed the Cubs, 4-2, all right, but they lost the services of their keystone star, Frank (Creepy) Crespi, who was hit in the face by a line-drive during pre-game practice. If he were lost for any length of time now it would be a hard blow.

They got along without him yesterday because Lefty Ernie White pitched seven-hit ball to gain his 13th victory, his sixth in 17 days. In the only other National league contest John Lanning held the Reds to three hits while the Pirates plowed to a 4-1 triumph.

The New York Yankees hit the winning trail again with a 7-5 decision over the last-place Washington Senators and a ninth-inning home run by Jimmie Foxx decided a 7-6 struggle in favor of the Boston Red Sox over the Philadelphia Athletics in the only other major league game.

IVAL GOODMAN RECOVERS FOLLOWING OPERATION

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Ival Goodman, Cincinnati right fielder, was reported in good condition today following an operation for a minor hernia.

Goodman was operated on yesterday and probably will be lost to the Reds for the remainder of the season.

Braves Drop Lima Tilt

Fail In Clutch as Nine Runners Die on Bases.

The Mansfield Braves visited the den of the fifth place Lima Pandas last night and during the course of the encounter somehow wound up on the short end of a 7-3 licking.

The Braves garnered as many hits as the Pandas, both team connecting for 11 bingles but somehow failed in the clutch, leaving nine men stranded high and dry in the fray.

* * *

Morse was in fine fettle for the Braves taking a neat four out of five, three of them being solid two base hits. Ankrum was the only other Brave to get more than a bingle as he took two out of four.

Homers by Davis and Carlson accounted for two of the Pandas runs with ringing circuit clouts.

The loss dropped the Braves three games behind Fremont and gave the Pandas a tie with Tiffin in fourth place.

* * *

The Braves meet Chappie Geygan's front running Fremont club at the Fairground tonight at 8 p. m.

Gunmen Take Stage Center

All-Ohio Series Appears To Be "Out."

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Odds and ends about this and that from here and there in Buckeye sportsdom!

* * *

My, my! here's August on hand already, with the shooting game pushing golf out of the sports picture for a couple of weeks before the booming guns make way for football and the World series.

Most of Ohio's hot-shot skeet shooters are in Indianapolis today for the national championships which run through Sunday. The shotguns get time to cool off a bit, and then start blazing again at Vandalia's Grand American trapshoot, Aug. 18-22. Then the rifle and pistol marksmen take over, staging their national matches Aug. 31 to Sept. 7 at Camp Perry.

The Grand American looks for its greatest entry list in 42 years, due to the boom caused by the national defense program, but the same emergency will cut the field at Camp Perry. The soldiers, sailors, marines, national guardsmen, etc., won't be there this time, the events being limited to the 22-caliber rifle and the 22, 38 and and 45 caliber pistol matches.

Looks like the hoped for "all-Ohio World series" is out, with the Reds and Indians staggering around more than usual, but that doesn't bother the big house boys in Ohio's penitentiary and London Prison farm.

Teams from those institutions will hook up Aug. 16, 23 and 30 in their annual three-game baseball series for the state's correctional institution title. The London boys are known as Amine's Angels, and the "wall" team as "Hunderson's Hurricanes."

James L. (Uncle Jim) Renick, athletic publicity director at Ohio State university, is coming out Aug. 11 with his second juvenile sports book. This one bears the title "Jimmy cheers the team," and if your youngster is interested in basketball, he'd like it a heap.

* * *

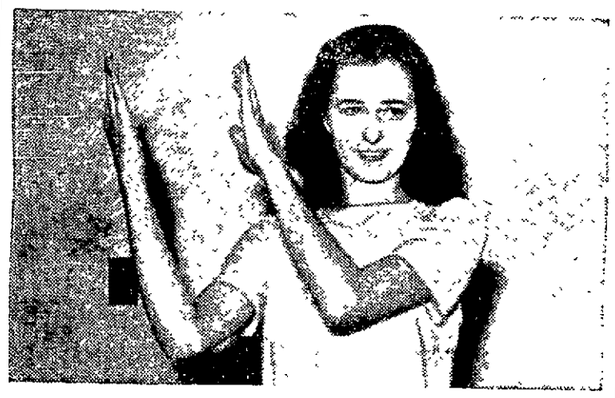
The publisher, however, got his signals crossed, for the flyleaf carries a note that Mr Renick is "publicity director at Ohio university." And Ohio university, as both you and I know, is down in the Athens county hill country, not in the state's capital.

Here Are New Grid Signs

Unsportsman-like conduct.

Illegal formation of position of player.

Illegal touching of kicked or free ball.



Intentional grounding of pass.

Assisted by Mary Armbrester of Montgomery, Ala., we show you four new football signals agreed upon by the National Association of Football Commissioners at the recent meeting at Miami, Fla. The signals will be used on the field this fall.

NEW YORK—(The Special News Service)—Billy Conn and his Mrs. left Hollywood for Pittsburgh yesterday. . . . Billy made a big hit out there. . . . Bob Olin, ex-light-heavyweight champion, is making more dough selling booze than he ever made in the ring. . . . Old Fox Clark Griffith is pretty sore at the Minneapolis ball club for giving the Giants first call on Outfielder Babe Barna. . . . Down in San Juan, Puerto Rico, tomorrow Gertrude Ederle will celebrate her 15th anniversary of swimming the English channel. . . . Horace Stonenam's statement from Pittsburgh was just what everybody knew all along—that Bill Terry could stay with the Giants as long as he likes. Bill may not get along with everybody, but if there's a smarter manager in the majors we're willing to learn.

Browns Rally Defeat Sox

St. Louis Scores Three Runs In 8th Inning.

The St. Louis Browns needed three hurlers and a three run rally in the eighth to beat the Fremont Green Sox, first-half champions in the Ohio State league, 7-6 last night at Galion.

Fremont scored four runs in the first inning, and had the ball game won until Cullenbine strolled in the eighth, Chet Laabs doubled, Swift walked, Trotter walked, and Strange singled to right to bring in the winning markers.

The St Louis players made one hand catches in the outfield and took it easy in the infield, giving the Sox plenty of breaks.

In the first inning Toth singled, Oddo struck out, Gerken struck out, Sprys singled, Ramsey singled, Sprys scored on Cullenbine's error and Siera singled, giving the Ohio State leaguers a 4-0 lead.

In the fourth Siera walked and Horntaj and Toth doubled to bring in the last two Fremont runs.

Berardino parked a home run clout in the left field bleachers in the fourth inning.

The crowd was announced at 3,000 persons.

Perpetual's Hopes Fade

Doc's Three-Year-Old Ailing With Fever.

GOSHEN, N. Y.—(AP)—This little village in the hills was getting all dressed up today for its annual big day, but the holiday spirit spreading through the neighborhood passed right on by Doc Parshall's barn at Good Time park.

Doc's rosy hopes of winning his third Hambletonian stake tomorrow were sick with a high fever.

These hopes are all wrapped up in a three-year-old tagged Perpetual. He looked like a mighty good thing for the $45,000 jackpot off his three recent stake victories, the latest only last Saturday at historic track. But Doc walked into Perpetual's stall last evening and found the colt ailing so badly with a temperature of 103 that he was just about sure his standard-bearer wouldn't be in first-rate condition before tomorrow's big heat, much less in time for the filing of entries today.

* * *

With the hopes of the Ohio ace on the point of disappearing, the talk of the early-arriving hundreds centered around Bill Gallon, the brown colt owned by R. H. Johnston of Charlotte, N. C.

* * *

Although Bill Gallon has been no ball of fire in his races this year, there were still many who figured he'd be sharp for this 16th Hambletonian and ready to take any of the other eight or nine expected entries.

* * *

* * *

Meanwhile as trotting fans by the hundreds began to pour in, the vanguard of a crowd of 40,000 expected to see the Hambletonian.

Kid Williams Romps Off With Main Honors

Satchmo and Helpers Put on Pepper Show Before Big Game.

MANSFIELD baseball fans saw just about what they expected to see last night at the Fairground, a good show, and a 17-1 victory for Satchel Paige and his Kansas City Monarchs over the Mansfield Liberty Park ball club.

The Monarchs stepped up and socked the apple just about as the fans expected them to sock it.

And they fielded the onion in big league style which shut off any hope the Liberties had of winning the ball game.

"Prince Hal" Shumacher, professional ball tosser from Zanesville, Evansville and Toledo, did his best on the mound for the Liberties, and hurled a fairly respectable brand of ball, but the Monarchs were swinging a big league stick, and that wasn't the kind of ball Hal was tossing, and neither was it the kind of ball the Liberties were fielding back of him.

No one expected it to be a ball game. In fact every one of the 1,730 fans looked forward to a good show, and a good show the Monarchs gave 'em.

They tossed the ball here and there and finally wound up on first, and they stole first when they were already occupying second, which isn't against the rules because no one ever thought such a play would come up.

With all due respect to Satchel Paige, young Kid Williams, who is only 16 years old, was the real pitcher out there on the mound last night.

The Kid stopped the Liberties cold after they'd scored their lone marker off Paige in the second inning, and so cold he stopped 'em he fanned 12 batters in the last six innings whereas the Satchmo had only three strikeouts in three.

But Satchmo and two of his infield cohorts put on a pepper game before the big tilt started that was a joy to see, and those fans who got there early enough to see it got their money's worth before the game ever started.

Book Feature In Tourney

American Legion Junior Baseball Stars Tangle.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Two favorites—Warren and Cincinnati—clashed in the feature game of third-round play in the 15th annual Ohio American Legion junior baseball championship today.

They and five other teams remained to fight it out for the title after first and second round play yesterday. Two other contests today pitted Columbus Camp Chase against Cedarville and Louisville against Perrysburg. The seventh team, Lima, drew a bye and will meet the winner of the Warren-Cincinnati game in tomorrow's fourth round.

* * *

Under tournament rules, a team must be defeated twice before it is eliminated.

Warren was installed as a favorite after turning in two convincing victories yesterday, crushing Columbus Camp Chase 15 to 6 and trimming Cedarville 7 to 3. Warren was runner-up for the title last year, while Cedarville knocked out defending champion Springfield in district play.

* * *

Cincinnati defeated Logan 1 to 0, and then did away with Louisville 9 to 1. Lima scored victories against Zanesville, 12 to 11, and Mansfield, 12 to 3. Perrysburg defeated Logan 4 to 3 and Cedarville triumphed over Zanesville 8 to 7.

Double losses sent Logan, Zanesville and Mansfield to the sidelines.

Anglers Enjoy Good Fishing

Best Season In Five Years For Ohioans.

By ROBERT OLDS

COLUMBUS, O. —(U.P.)— Angles for anglers: Well, this day would have to arrive when the average disciple of Izaak Walton is working overtime, his pal is on a night shift in a defense plant and they won't give his brother-in-law a vacation.

Ohio, according to Assistant Conservation Commissioner Buck Rider, is enjoying its best fishing season in five years—"at least."

* * *

From over the state, the conservation division is receiving reports of excellent fishing in the state's lakes and streams and Lake Erie.

"The natives over around Indian Lake who used to say they wouldn't think of fishing there are now telling me that fishing on the lake is the best in the memory of man," Rider said.

"They're really slaughtering big bass over there in places where they previously wouldn't even consider fishing. Spring fishing this year, early and late, is probably the best in Ohio in recent years and the summer season is turning out much above par."

* * *

The fishing license division reported that it looks like a new record will be set for the sale of non-resident licenses. License agents have asked for 25,000 more resident licenses than they did a year ago at this time.

Conservation men think they deserve some credit for the good fishing but they're willing to hand most of the applause to Mother Nature.

"Nature has taken care of us pretty well," said Rider. "The dry weather which began last fall and continued this spring cleared up the lakes and streams as they've never been cleared before in 10 years. One thing that makes poor fishing is roily streams caused by rains."

* * *

The lack of rainfall, he said, may finally prove to be harmful, but this year it has brought good fishing.

The clear water permitted better and earlier spawning. Lake Erie and inland waters are "lousy" with both forage and game minnows as a result, Rider said. This is especially true at Indian Lake and Lake St. Marys, he added.

In addition, the division's program of dredging and cleaning out the weeds in stuffed up channels, and planting fish food and cover in the "bare as a bathtub" type of lake may be paying dividends.

"Our program may be beginning to show results," said Rider. "Moss raking and weed cutting have opened more than 200 acres of water in Indian Lake that had been lost to fish and fishing for 15 or 20 years."

These cleaning out operations mean a greater circulation of water, better fish propagation and better fishing," Rider explained. "Right now we are building a $1,000 portable machine which can be moved from lake to lake and stream to stream on a trailer to do these operations. In addition to the state lakes we have easements on more than 100 private lakes."

Rider explained that the division this year was also not aced with extensive "fish rescue" operations and that there was no great increase in stream pollution.

Fishing in the Big Muskingum conservancy district pool reservoirs, especially Senecaville, Piedmont and Charles Mill, have been reported excellent, he said.

A recent census taken at Charles Mill on June 16-22 showed that 1,288 fishermen caught an average of 6.7 legal size fish apiece, and an average of 1.7 per hour. A Piedmont census during the same period showed that 307 fishermen caught 2,889 keeper-size fish, an average of 9.4 fish in four hours.

On the opening day of July 20 at Lake Jackson, new lake in Jackson county a total of 350 fishermen caught 2,130 fish, an average of six each.

CERTIFY ARMY TEAM

WICHITA, Kans. —(U.P.)— Mississippi today became the first state to certify an army team as state semi-pro baseball champion. The 37th division (Ohio) team from Camp Shelby will meet the Baton Rouge Essos, Louisiana champions, in a regional playoff to determine which team is to compete in the national semi-pro tournament here Aug. 16.

BUDDY WALKER WINS

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Scoring three knock-downs in the second round, Buddy Walker, Columbus, O., negro heavyweight, turned in a convincing 10-round decision over Johnny Shkor of Baltimore here last night.

SNAVELY HEAD COACH

CHICAGO —(AP)— Carl Snavely of Cornell accepted appointment yesterday as head coach of the College All-Stars who will play the Chicago Bears, pro champions, in Soldier Field Aug. 28.

REPORTS TO BROWNS

ST. LOUIS —(INS)— Archie McKain, left handed pitcher, was to report to the St. Louis Browns today from the Detroit Tigers. He was sold to the Browns in a straight cash deal.

SOX SOCK FELLER

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Up to mid-July Bob Feller had beaten every American league club at least once, except the Chicago White Sox.

STRINGER CUTS LOOSE

CHICAGO—(AP)—Some folks have given Babe Dahlgren, the new, fancy fielding Cubs' first sacker, part credit for the improved play of second baseman Lou Stringer. Dahlgren noticed that the rookie was aiming his throws at first. "Just cut it loose, Dahlgren told him, "I'll be responsible after it leaves your fingers.

STRICTLY AMATEUR

The recent I. C. 4-A track and field games were so strictly amateur that Leslie MacMitchell, New York University's star miler, had to purchase two tickets for personal use.

SET TWO WORLD PISTOL RECORDS

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(U.P.)— Two new world record pistol marks are claimed by A. L. Meloche, U. S. treasury officer, and Lee Echols, Nogales customs inspector.

Meloche, competing in the seventh annual state championship tournament, fired a total of 864 in the grand aggregate division, breaking the old record of 858 set in 1939 at Camp Perry, O.

Meloche and Echols, competing in the .45 caliber doubles division, racked up a total of 570 over the Camp Perry police courts. The old record was 551.

Officials of the State Pistol Association predicted the records would be recognized.

LEADING MARKET ISSUES FAIL TO DEVELOP TREND

Wall Street Has Quiet Day as Result of Lack of Any Definite Spur.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks worked at cross purposes in today's market and the result was a more or less trendless performance. Dealings slackened after the opening and, near the second hour, minor fractional variations were seen in virtually all sections of the list.

There was a scarcity of outstanding speculative stimulation in the news budget, brokers said. Bullish contingents generally, it was added, inclined to step carefully pending congressional adoption of the new tax bill and more light on international affairs.

Some market encouragement was derived from the figures of federal reserve member banks in 101 cities disclosing another substantial jump in in loans to commerce, industry and agriculture.

Confirmation of the brisk industrial momentum also was found in the statement of the Bell system for July estimating new telephone installations were the largest for that month on record.

VOTE TODAY

Senate Ready To Cast Ballots on Service Extension Bill.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Counting their battle already won, senate leaders strove to obtain a vote at today's session on the controversial legislation extending for 18 months the service of all army personnel.

The administration measure, however, had to wait until the chamber disposed of the substitute proposal by Senator Taft (R., Ohio) which would permit only a six-months extension in the present year's service for selectees, a year more for national guardsmen and reservists, and no extension at all for the regular army enlisted men serving the standard three-year hitch.

Democratic Leader Barkley obtained an agreement late yesterday to vote on the Taft substitute at 1 p. m. (EST). Barkley and Senator Hill (D., Ala.) both predicted the proposal would receive less than 30 of the senate's present 95 votes.

SEVEN REGISTER

Group From Mansfield Area Set For O. S. U. Courses.

Seven Mansfield area young people of college age have registered for the coming term at Ohio State University, reports from the university showed today.

Pearl Rub of 132 West Second street and Joseph Keifer of 15 Lafayette place, both of Mansfield, have registered in the college of arts and sciences at the university, and will join 1300 other students registered so far next fall.

Other area registrations include: Howard R. Miller of Ashland, who will enter the arts college; Rita Schuler, agriculture college; Betty Robinson, home economics; and Donald Robinson, agriculture, all of Bucyrus; and Scott Swank of Butler who will enter the pharmacy school.

Kiddies To Be First Aided By Health Training Plan

(By Associated Press)

OCEAN CITY, N. J. — The nation's new health training director said Saturday his program will begin with the children—"we want to make them health conscious from the beginning and inculcate right habits of eating, sleeping and exercise that they will carry all through life."

"This is the way the German nation built up its health and it is something America must do," John B. Kelly told interviewers at his summer cottage here.

The strapping Philadelphian who in the early '20s held Olympic and National rowing titles, was named U. S. director of health training yesterday by New York's Mayor, F. H. LaGuardia, who is director of the office of civilian defense.

Last fall at the instance of President Roosevelt he studied problems of furthering the nation's health.

"The greatest names in the athletic world will be asked to assist," Kelly said, "and I am confident they will co-operate in putting this plan over."

"I will invite Jack Dempsey, Tommy Harmon, Bobby Jones, Joe DiMaggio, Bob Feller, my former rowing teammate Paul Costello, and others whose achievements in sports are well known to make public appearances throughout the country in the interest of the training program."

It won't be a compulsory program, he added, but "we want to make it so attractive that everybody will want to join up."

He hopes to hold health meetings in designated school buildings, well-advertised in advance.

Governors will be asked to lend the co-operation of the state health departments, and "in a few days I will appoint a woman to head the feminine half of our activities."

"My thought," Kelly asserted, "is that civilian training will not be for the duration of this emergency, but will continue as a part of the national life thereafter."

OPEN DRIVE

House Leaders Push Daylight Saving Plan Along.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The administration today opened its drive for federal daylight savings time as a means of conserving power for defense.

The house interstate and foreign commerce committee called Leland Olds, chairman of the federal power commission, to testify on a bill by Rep. Lea (D) Cal., chairman of the committee, that would give the president power to designate daylight savings time in whatever section of the country he deemed it advisable.

President Roosevelt has urged daylight savings time on a national rather than a regional basis to conserve power for defense.

ALLIANCE — (AP) — Ernest B. Studebaker, vocational coordinator in city schools here, is northern Ohio's consultant for the training-within-industry program, appointed yesterday by Sidney Hillman of the office of production management.

2 KILLED IN CRASH

VAN WERT — (INS) — An auto crash six miles north of Van Wert killed Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Herminghuysen, 74 and 69 years old, respectively. The Herminghuysens celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last year.

BOWEL WORMS CAN'T HURT ME!

That's what YOU think!

Learn the truth! Nowadays it is easy for you —or anybody, anywhere—to "catch" roundworms. And these ugly creatures can cause great distress inside you, without your even knowing what is wrong.

Use Jayne's Vermifuge to drive out roundworms before they can "get set" and make trouble. Jayne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine; used by millions for over a century.

When you notice fidgeting, itchy nose or seat, uneasy stomach, loss of weight—suspect roundworms—and get Jayne's Vermifuge right away! It expels stubborn worms, yet acts very gently. When no worms are there, it works merely as a mild laxative. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge! At all drug stores.

presumably against any Japanese attack against British Burma or Malaya.

Hourly, it appeared that an "explosion" in the Far East was drawing nearer.

The Japanese newspaper Kokumin, asserted that Thailand was "under merciless pressure" by the United States and Britain.

A Japanese army spokesman admitted today that Japanese and Russian troops had clashed near the Manchoukuo-Siberia frontier, while authoritative quarters in London reported that Japan had "substantially" reinforced her Manchoukuo garrison of a quarter million men.

Dispatches from Shanghai said the Yellow sea port of Dairen, point of entry to Manchoukuo, was swarming with Japanese troops, horses and artillery, and that large quantities of munitions and other supplies were constantly moving through the streets.

Foreigners reaching Shanghai said they took it for granted the Japanese forces and equipment were to be moved into Manchoukuo to reinforce garrisons along the Siberian frontier.

With Washington-Tokyo relations increasingly tense, all Japanese ships had left U. S. Pacific coast ports today and reports from the Far East indicated that no more vessels flying the flag of the Rising Sun would be seen in American ports for some time.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye's government announced a doubling of present war-risk rates in marine insurance, effective Aug. 8, because of increasing dangers to shipping.

In Washington, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said yesterday that immediate consideration would be given to the problem of Removal of Americans from the Orient. More than 600 United States citizens were stranded in Japan alone when the Tokyo government suddenly cancelled the departure of Japanese vessels for the United States.

Lieut.-Col. Kunio Akiyama, official spokesman for the Japanese forces in China, deprecated the clash between Japanese and Russian troops, asserting that neither government had protested the incident and that there had been frequent unimportant skirmishes along the frontier in recent years. Both sides, he said, had minimized them by tacit agreement.

Akiyama said the brush occurred about two weeks ago near Manchuli, just inside western Manchoukuo, when Soviet troops crossed the frontier and exchanged shots with the Japanese. One Japanese was wounded, he said, while Soviet casualties were unknown.

More Jap Troops Landed at Saigon.

SAIGON—(INS)—Large numbers of Japanese troops continued landing in Saigon today despite yesterday's announcement that the movement of Japanese troops into Indo-China had been completed.

The announcement issued by Japanese military headquarters yesterday said Nipponese forces had occupied all the bases granted by France under the joint treaty for defense of Indo-China.
